IRON MEN OF SKY WRITE NEW AIR HISTORY

Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. John Richter Champion Pilots

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 28.—At 12:43 p. m. Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter completed their ninetieth lap. They have now flown 4500 kilometers, which exceeds by more than 500 miles any previous flight in the history of aviation. They continued on for further laurels, with every prospect of flying a distance in excess of 4000 land miles.

The world's endurance records of thirty-six hours, held by Lieutenants Macready nad Kelly, will be broken at 5:05 this evening if the plane remains aloft.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 28.—In their epochal attempt by means of mid-air refuelling, to break the world's long distance, endurance and many speed records, Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant John Richter at 9:30 o'clock this morning were still flying strong, after having been aloft over 28 hours. Four world's speed records had already fallen.

At 9:13 Smith and Richter rounded the starting pylon of their 50 kilometer triangular course for the eightieth time, a distance of 4000 kilometers. They negotiated this in 28 hours and 6 minutes 48 seconds, the official timers announced, at a speed of approximately 88 miles an hour. This time lowers the world's record of Lieutenants Macready and Kelly by nearly seven hours.

Fuel for Man and Motor

At break of dawn Lieutenants Hines and Seifert, in a "mother" plane, went aloft and pumped 90 gallons of gasoline into the almost empty tanks of the marathoner, which had flown all night on the 225 gallons taken aboard at sundown yesterday.

The inner man then demanded attention, and Captain Ervin and Lieutenant O'Neill took aloft a breakfast for two that was the last word in the culinary art of the Rockwell field chef. Ham-and-eggs, if you please, on heated plates were wrapped in many folds of oil paper and towels. French fries, similarly wrapped. A half-gallon thermos bottle supplied steaming coffee, a la Boston style.

Tie Food in Bundle

The breakfast was tied into a bundle heavily weighted with lead to prevent it from streaming out at the end of its line behind the fast moving feeder plane. After

LIGHTNING DOES MILLION DAMAGE

Oakland and Bay Region Suffer Severely From Thunderstorm

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 28.—A million dollars' damage was caused today by the worst electrical storm to strike Alameda and Contra Costa counties in fifty years. Several persons were injured and hundreds were periled.

Two tanks, containing thousands of gallons of naptha were fired by lightning which struck the Standard Oil tank farm at San Pablo. Damage was estimated at $500,000. Scores of nearby tanks are endangered by the huge blaze.

The Pacific Gas and Electric company plant at Richmond was gutted by fire when a bolt of lightning struck it. Industries there were paralyzed.

Twenty-two electric trains and street cars were struck by lightning and their motors burned out. No passengers were injured.

A number of homes were struck but the fires were soon controlled by the combined fire-fighting forces of the east bay cities.

The Oakland city hall, an 18-story structure, was struck but no damage done.

A panic occurred in the Oakland summer high school when lightning struck the school transformer.

SUNSET CLUB IN FIRST PARTY

Oldest Inhabitants Felicitate Comrades on Fifty-fourth Wedding Anniversary

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

IT was fifty-four years ago that a stalwart young Canadian returned to Canada to visit his father and mother after nine years' pioneering in Texas where he had been one of the first Texas rangers and also participated in the Civil war.

Toronto was his destination in Canada and on his visit with his home folks he met and fell in love with a charming young Canadian girl. Just fifty-four years ago today, August 28, 1869, John Edward Oldright, son of Major John Oldright of Her Majesty's Eighty-first regiment, claimed as his bride Miss Julia I. Durand, daughter of Charles Durand, prominent attorney of Toronto.

A happier inspiration for the first meeting of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club could not be found than a celebration of the fifty-fourth anniversary of this wedding, and yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Oldright were honored at a gathering of Sunset club members and guests at the B. O. Holbrook home at 426 West Harvard street.

Will Meet Monthly

In addition to honoring the Oldrights the affair proved such an enjoyable one that the decision was unanimous that an informal social gathering of the club be held once each month.

The affair yesterday was arranged as a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Oldright. They were invited to go for a short ride and when they were taken to the Holbrook home they were happily surprised when they were greeted with strains of the Lohengrin Wedding March and by a company of Glendale friends.

Mrs. Holbrook and her mother, Mrs. Zilpha A. Parker, 88 years years of age and a member of the Sunset club, arranged the affair and were delightful hostesses.

Songs of Other Days

Mrs. B. E. Ralph, vocalist, and Mrs. M. T. Wood-Arefwedson, pianist, entertained with musical groups. Mrs. Ralph sang "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet," "Out Where the West Begins," "There is Silver Where Once Was Gold" and "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." Later she led

Lowden Boom Heard In Illinois Papers

CHICAGO, Aug. 28—Evidences of a boom for Frank O. Lowden as a presidential candidate in 1924 are to be seen in the country newspapers of Illinois who are backing their former governor almost to a man.

The Rockford Register-Gazette is accredited with launching the campaign of publicity while the Freeport Daily Standard-Journal, the Morrison Sentinel and other sheets in the immediate vicinity of the Lowden home at Oregon are strenuously supporting the man who effected economy and efficiency in the Illinois state government.

In the last campaign Mr. Lowden personally financed his publicity, expending in the neighborhood of two million dollars, it is understood.

Glendale Struttin' Along in August At Great Pace

HOW'S business in Glendale? you ask. Mighty fine! is the response. All firms are optimistic and progressive, it seems, this month-end seeing some marvelous sales in progress.

Just for instance, a general merchandise store opened the first of the month. It has been more than justified in the employment of 25 clerks! Figure their volume of business out for yourself.

A restaurant has been open for five weeks. It is now doing better than $160 daily and still growing!

And building this "dull" month will mount close to a million in "the fastest growing city in America."

Evening News 'Sunset Club' Members' Ages Total 1099 At Anniversary Celebration

Members and guests of The Glendale Evening News Sunset Club meeting yesterday at the B. O. Holbrook home at 426 West Harvard street to celebrate the fifty-fourth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Oldright. Mr. and Mrs. Oldright, age 87 and 74, are seated in the center holding flowers. On Mr. Oldright's left is Mrs. Caroline Frances Wilcox, 86; on Mrs. Oldright's right are Mrs. J. C. Plannett, 87, and Mrs. Zilpha Parker, 88. Directly back of them from left to right are A. H. Cleaveland, 86; Mrs. A. E. Wallace, 86; Mrs. Sarah J. Fambrough, 85; Mrs. Mary Phillips, 86; Mrs. Julina Hayes, 80; R. N. Taylor, 77; and the two men standing back of these are, on the left, Henry Clay Brown, 91, and on the right, Jeffrey Wisner Gillette, 86. Their ages total 1099.

YAMAMOTO WILL BE JAP PREMIER

Successor to Kato Has Wide Experience in Service of His Country

TOKIO, Aug. 28.—Count Gombei Yamamoto, former premier of Japan, has been named to succeed the late Baron Kato as premier of Japan.

Gombei Yamamoto, who was appointed premier of Japan today to succeed the late Premier Kato, has had a wide and varied career in the service of his country.

Born in 1852 in the province of Satsuma, Yamamoto fought in the war of the restoration on the imperial side. He was graduated from the Japanese naval academy with the pioneer class of 1877, after which he served aboard a training vessel that visited America. He later made a voyage round the world on board a German warship.

In 1880 Yamamoto was promoted to a lieutenancy and was made vice-commander of the Japanese cruiser Asama.

He was gazetted rear-admiral in 1895, vice-minister of the navy in 1896, then vice-admiral and minister from 1898 to January. During his occupancy as minister of the navy he was elevated to full admiral in 1904.

Yamamoto became premier for the first time in 1913, forming the cabinet that held sway 1913-1914. His cabinet succeeded the third Katsura ministry.

One Dead, Two Dying In L. A. Crime War

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—One man is dead, another is reported dying and a third is badly wounded as the result of two encounters between officers and men accused of attacks on women during the past twenty-four hours.

Luan Lasso was the man killed. He was a bystander watching Deputy Sheriff Modie chasing an escaped prisoner, Roy Lewis, charged with robbery and attack. The bullet, after passing through the leg of the escaped prisoner, struck Lasso, who died a few minutes later.

Samuel Bonilla, intercepted by Officer George Strong as a suspect in an attempted attack on Mary Moys, was believed dying as the result of three bullet wounds from the officer's gun.

British Hold High Esteem For Coolidge W. B. Kirk Writes

SINCE the death of the late president, Warren G. Harding, Glendale Evening News readers have looked forward to a letter from W. B. Kirk telling of receiving the news abroad. The letter has arrived and is herewith printed and will undoubtedly be one of the most interesting of the series of Kirk travel letters. Mr. Kirk writes:

W. B. Kirk

"Aberdeen, Scotland, Aug. 5.—We heard of President Harding's death only yesterday (Saturday) morning, thirty-six hours after it occurred. Such is life (and death) in staid Britain. As there is a difference in time of hours, this discrepancy is not quite as great as it appears. His passing was about 7:30 p. m., too late to appear in the next morning's papers here, and the evening paper we didn't see because we were en route. Nobody mentioned it, there were no 'extras' or any excitement among the newsboys, so we knew not a thing of it till we saw it in the Glasgow Herald of Saturday morning. It seems hard to realize that the president, apparently strong and vigorous, should be taken before his wife or ex-President Wilson, both of whom have been so close to the brink. His mantle will fall on worthy shoulders, in the judgment of the British press, as well as my own. President Coolidge showed in his handling of the police in Boston when they attempted to strike, the stuff he is made of, so we will expect an administration fully as capable as that of his predecessor. 'There is a Divinity that shapes our ends.'

"Edinburgh, Scotland, August 6.—I realize that we have now reached a section where we 'can't put anything over on you,' in other words, some of you know so much more about England and Scotland than I ever will that I will have to be very accurate in statement or I will have to be corrected or thought unreliable. Some of you, like Br'er Rabbit, were bred and bawn' here, some have visited here, and all the rest of you are more familiar with the British Isles than with any other foreign country. So I shall not attempt much that is descriptive of the cities, or to give you information which you can better secure from the encyclopedia.

Finds Friendly Spirit

"If I appear to be too technical or to detail more of the homely facts than some of you sophisticated ones deem interesting, in writing of the habits, manners and

Selective Immigration Doomed as Failure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The plan of Secretary of Labor Davis for the enactment of a selective immigration law, providing for the weeding out of immigrants at foreign ports, is doomed to failure, Representative Cable, Republican, of Ohio, a member of the house immigration committee, informed President Coolidge today. Cable said ninety per cent of the senate was opposed to the legislation.

Millions in Furs at Stake in Arctic Fight

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 28.—Sanguinary combat between soviet forces in control of the trading areas in the province of Kamchatka and white troops who were defeated by the reds last winter, is probably in progress today, with millions in furs as the possible prize for the whites, should they win.

JOHNSON SILENT ON U. S. POLITICS

Scores Sordid Selfishness of European Nations in Chicago Interview

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Senator Hiram Johnson, while making train connections today in Chicago on his way from the east to the west coast, dipped into politics only long enough to characterize the entire European situation as "a hell hole of sordid selfishness."

He is on his way to California after five months spent abroad. The senator refused to discuss domestic politics, but intimated that he would have much to say when he speaks in Chicago in a month.

"We can thank God we are out of the European mess," Senator Johnson said. 'If we have the most ordinary common sense and the smallest kind of vision we will keep out of it. Sordid selfishness is the controlling factor in European policies today. Idealism or altruism in the councils of Europe are altogether submerged."

Mr. Johnson defended the statement of Lord Birkenhead—for which the Englishman was widely criticized—that our participation in European matters should be governed by our interest.

Hughes Takes Stand As Coolidge Supporter

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes came quietly and unheralded into Chicago, en route to Minneapolis, where he will address the American Bar association, rested four hours and continued his journey. Sudden changes in his plans disrupted arrangements for his reception, entertainment and journey from Chicago on a special train.

Secretary Hughes asked not to be questioned on international affairs, recognition of Mexico or national politics, but did say:

"You can quote me as saying that I am unqualifiedly behind President Coolidge."

MINE STRIKE DECISION IS NEAR

President Calls Off Cabinet Meeting as Pinchot Reports Progress

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—President Coolidge has been advised that good progress is being made by Governor Pinchot in his negotiations with the anthracite miners and operators at Harrisburg, it was announced officially at the White House this afternoon.

Believing that the hard coal controversy is proceeding toward a settlement and that nothing could be accomplished by laying it before the cabinet, the president called off the scheduled meeting with members of his official family.

This was taken as a further indication of the unshaken optimism of the administration that a walkout will be averted.

Summon Members of Mine Scale Committee

HAZELTON, Pa., Aug. 28.—All members of the general scale committee of the United Mine Workers have been summoned by wire to meet at Harrisburg tonight. They are expected to act on another proposition laid before them as the outcome of the conference of miners' chiefs and operators with Governor Pinchot in order to avert an anthracite coal strike September 1.

Pinchot Acts to Avert Coal Strike

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 28.—With both sides of the coal dispute before him, following an executive meeting with the committee of the anthracite operators today, Governor Gifford Pinchot this afternoon planned to open negotiations between both sides in an effort to avert the threatened coal strike scheduled for September 1.

The operators held a conference with the governor this morning, adjourning at noon.

In the morning conference, it was learned, the operators presented their case just as the miners put their view of the dispute before the governor yesterday afternoon.

At 2 o'clock Governor Pinchot is to meet representatives of the miners, laying before them the case of the operators as it was presented this morning.

The governor said he would again confer with the operators at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The governor held secret the events which transpired between himself and the operators this morning. He said he would not

CITY TO PAY LESS THAN NEIGHBOR SECTIONS

City Dads Express Pride in Municipal Solvency at 'Love Feast'

GLENDALE'S tax rate for the year will be $1.10 and $1.11, for the most part, on each $100 assessed valuation, one of the lowest rates in southern California, it is claimed by city officials.

The City Council last night took action adopting a rate schedule which represented a compromise between the warring factions who were both seeking the same ends—that of providing the municipality with sufficient revenue, but not too much.

Councilmen Agree

So it was that a literal "love feast" was held when Councilman Sam Davis voted for 1.10 and 1.11, instead of insisting on 1.12 and 1.13, while Councilman Asa Hall agreed to the rate when he found that 1.06 was a little too low to provide certain bond retirement and interest funds, although there will be a surplus in these funds to be deducted from next year's taxes.

Mayor Spencer Robinson, in felicitating his fellow members, including C. E. Kimlin and W. A. Horn, on their perfect agreement on a mutual and satisfactory figure, expressed his opinion that the city administration as a whole deserves a deal of credit for its persistent efforts to keep expenses in the city as low as possible, the reflection of which is to be seen in a tax bill much less than neighboring cities.

Low Glendale Tax

The council is unanimously of the opinion that the citizens of Glendale have reason to be proud of the newly-established rate, as Los Angeles will pay from $1.44 to $1.71, and Long Beach, wealthy oil city, has a rate of $1.27—

Belgians Don't Believe Any German Promises

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The Belgian reparations note, replying to the British note of August 12, which is under scrutiny by the foreign office today, suggests an informal conference among the allies. It supports the French attitude that military occupation of the Ruhr cannot be lightened until the Germans cease passive resistance.

The communication declares there will be "no evacuation in return for more promises."

Toll of 1635 Kenneth road, president of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's clubs, is to represent the district at the meetings of Inyo and Santa Barbara districts, the former to be held October 28 to November 3, and the latter October 16, 17 and 18. Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, California director of the General Federation of Women's clubs, will also be in attendance.

The first presidents' council of the Los Angeles district is to be held at the Ebell clubhouse Saturday, September 24, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Each president is entitled to bring with her three members of her club, preferably officers.

There will be addresses by Mrs. J. C. Urquhart and Mrs. Toll, and the following subjects will be discussed: "How to Budget Your Clubs," "How the District Is Trying to Help Each Club Build Good Programs at the Least Expense," "Why We Need the Interest of the Younger Women and What We May Do to Secure It."

A short club institute will be conducted and twenty minutes will be allowed for a question box. Mrs. Toll requests each one to bring a notebook for district information.

Mrs. John C. Dunn, formerly secretary of the Tuesday Afternoon club and Glendale resident, is now residing at 200 New High street, Los Angeles. Mrs. Dunn is corresponding secretary of the Los Angeles district, and she reports that she has written sixty personal letters for district work, 176 president's letters, sixty-four postals, twenty-eight chairmen letters and sent fifty blanks this last month. Further district work is reflected in Mrs. Toll's report that she wrote 117 letters during her vacation last month.

Informal Lunch

Mrs. Robert Philp and her mother, Mrs. Lillian Dow, were hostesses yesterday at an informal luncheon at their home at 650 North Kenwood street, for Mrs. George F. Emanuels of Kobe, Japan, who, with Mr. Emanuels, is a guest at the Philp home.

Other guests at the luncheon were Mrs. F. H. Perry of Los Angeles and Mrs. L. S. Frink of Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuels were formerly residents of Southern California, residing in Los Angeles. Six years ago they went to Japan, where Mr. Emanuels is connected with the Getz Importing and Exporting firm. They are to leave Glendale Friday night.

Home From Trip

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Merrick of 332 Milford street have just returned home from a most enjoyable motor trip through Northern California and Oregon. They motored as far north as Ashland, Ore., making the trip in three days. Here they visited with Mrs. Kerrick's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Breeze, for a month. They visited many interesting parts of Oregon, particularly enjoying the wonderful waterfalls and mountain resorts. On the way home they visited many points of interest in California, and spent a day in Santa Barbara.

P. E. O. Picnic

Glendale P. E. O. members are planning to attend the state picnic tomorrow at Sycamore Grove park in Los Angeles. There will be basket lunches at noon and a program in the afternoon.

Home Wedding

Miss Frances Elizabeth Habbick, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Habbick of 145 South Everett street, Glendale, became the bride of Douglas L. Penfield of Long Beach, at 8 o'clock last night, the ceremony taking place in the parlor of the Habbick home here with 150 friends and relatives in attendance.

The Rev. Alfred Hare of the Park Congregational church, Los Angeles, who christened Miss Habbick, was present to perform the ceremony. Miss Julia Kinsman, at the piano, and Mrs. Walter Findon, violin, played the beautiful Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal couple took their place.

Miss Habbick was attired in a gown of white net and satin; Miss Lorena Sittell of Los Angeles, the bridesmaid, wore pale pink georgette and Mrs. Douglas H. Habbick of Ventura, the matron of honor, was quite charming in pale blue georgette. Dan Duncan of Long Beach was best man and the father gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Jessie Hilton Wilson sang "I Love You Truly" and "God Make Thee Mine" and Mrs. C. S. Penfield sang "All for You," following which an informal reception was held at which time the guests were permitted a glimpse at the many beautiful wedding gifts.

The wedding cake was a feature of the reception, being a creation of Billy Baker of Ventura, who has been a long time friend of the family. It was six feet in circumference at the base and four feet around on top, crested with three cherubs clinging to wedding bells, while the entire piece was festooned with bride's roses. The letters "B. H." were engrossed in gold. Miss Habbick being known to her host of friends as "Betty."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. "Jack" Habbick, and it is "Jack" who is the "cheer 'em up" field secretary for the Southern California Edison Company. Mr. Penfield is an employe of the Shell Oil Company while his bride has been a cashier with the Southern California Edison Company.

The couple left by motor car last evening for a honeymoon trip in the southern part of the state. Quite a number of guests came from Ventura where the Habbicks resided until a year ago.

Leaves for Home

Mrs. R. G. Fitz-Gerald, who has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sweat of 1444 Dorothy drive, leaves tonight for her home in Topeka, Kan.

As a farewell compliment to her mother, Mrs. Sweat was hostess at dinner Sunday night, entertaining Dr. and Mrs. A. G Pilcher, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson and daughter, Miss Florence, of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stale, of Glendale.

Zuanne Meeting

Mesdames Evelyn Hall, Sadie Bronnenberg and Ernest Rich were in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon to attend a meeting of the Zuannes.

Mrs. Hall reports that the chapter will be instituted Saturday night, when officers will be elected and installed. Mrs. Harris, who was the delegate to the convention at Cedar Rapids, Ia., has just returned, and will report on the gathering at the meeting Saturday night.

Visit Old Folks

St. Mark's Guild members are anticipating a trip tomorrow to the Episcopal Home for the Aged at Alhambra. There will be eight automobiles making the trip, and the party will leave the Episcopal church at 2 o'clock.

The church women are taking refreshments with them, and are planning to have a pleasant informal social time with the old folks at the home.

Surprise Party

Miss Martha Eilers of 115 North Adams street was the honoree last evening at a surprise party given by the members of the Sunday school class of the Glendale Presbyterian church, of which she is class teacher. The affair was given in the celebration of Miss Eilers' birthday anniversary, and also as a farewell, as the members of this class have just recently been promoted to Miss Mary Johnson's class.

The evening was devoted to games, contests and a general good time.

At a late hour refreshments were served by the members of the class.

LOCAL PERSONALS

Howard L. Brown of 406 North Maryland avenue is now driving a new Studebaker sport model.

GLENDALE'S TAXES LOW, OTHERS SHOW

which indicates that Glendale taxation is the lowest among similarly rapid growing communities.

Solvency of the city of Glendale at this time also was emphasized by the councilmen in informal talks for the benefit of 100 people present in hopes of hearing a verbal combat. The total outstanding bonded indebtedness, exclusive of $20,000 unsold in a school-street issue, amounts to only $94,500. A reserve fund of more than $80,000 has been builded in the last few years and sufficient cash is on hand in miscellaneous funds to "clean up books" any "day of reckoning" without a nickel's loss to those who place their faith in Glendale's promise to pay on its bonds.

"Where could a city be with a population of 42,000 and entirely solvent," asked Councilman Kimlin.

R. S. Person, who was among those present, said he knew one, but didn't name it. He also objected to Glendale showing its tax rate in a more favorable light than Los Angeles, because he considered it a "knock" on the neighbor metropolis.

Mayor Robinson assured him that Glendale had no annexationists, now that the sewer problem was being amicably settled by a contract with Los Angeles, and Mr. Person took occasion to infer the local officials were lax in proceeding with the program. He was informed otherwise, however, and Mr. Person and other persons went home fully satisfied Glendale is a grand and glorious city.

Reverting to the tax situation, however, it is stated that special levies for interest and sinking fund charges involved in various bond issues will be assessed in municipal improvement districts as follows: No. 3, 41 cents; No. 4, 20 cents; No. 6, 17 cents; No. 7, 53 cents.

Rates of Taxation

Taxation districts and the rate payable in each are as follows:

A. All that portion of the city of Glendale included within the boundaries thereof as originally incorporated—$1.10.

B. All that territory annexed to the city of Glendale at annexation elections held October 14, 1911, and March 30, 1912, and known as West Glendale District and Verdugo Canyon District—$1.10.

C. All that territory annexed to the city of Glendale by annexation election held on April 29, 1916, and known as Pumping Plant District and Remington District—$1.09.

D. All that territory formerly included in the city of Tropico—$1.11.

E. All that territory annexed to the city of Glendale by annexation election held on January 20, 1919, and known as Grand Avenue District, and all that territory annexed to the city of Glendale by annexation election held May 22, 1918, and known as Arden Avenue and Valley View Districts, and all that territory annexed to the city of Glendale by annexation election held August 7, 1918, and known as Kenilworth District—$1.08.

F. All that territory annexed to the city of Glendale by annexation election held June 30, 1921, and known as Pacific Avenue District; all that territory annexed to the city of Glendale by annexation election held July 14, 1921, and known as Viola Avenue District; all that territory annexed to the city of Glendale by annexation election held August 11, 1921, and known as Sierra Avenue District, and all that territory annexed to the city of Glendale by annexation election held November 29, 1921, and known as Laurel Avenue District—$1.07.

G. All that territory annexed to the city of Glendale by annexation election held April 27, 1923, and known as Flower Street District—$1.03.

When a Small Business Grows

—As Glendale grows, many business concerns, small at the start, are growing with it. Growth brings an increasing need for bank credits.

—A bank may loan, to one patron, only a small proportion of its capital and surplus. Many concerns, as they develop, find they have outgrown their credit with a small bank.

—The Security Bank has ample capital and surplus—$10,525,000—to protect the credit needs of its largest customers. At the same time it takes good care of the small business house. Arrange your finances so you may grow with Glendale.

Coal Parley Goes On at Pittsburg reveal anything occurring in the executive sessions until he had evolved a plan of action.

Governors Confer on Emergency Measures

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Representatives of eleven eastern states assembled here today to discuss emergency measures for the distribution of coal substitutes in the event a strike of anthracite miners goes into effect, as scheduled, September 1.

The governors of the eleven states, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland, had been asked personally to attend, but most of them were represented by proxies.

Representatives of the railroads were expected to give their views at the conference today as the question of distribution was considered vital to the success of any scheme to meet the situation.

Sycamore Canyon Road Paving Will Proceed

A resolution ordering the improvement of Sycamore Canyon road was passed last night by the City Council. This action was taken with alacrity following an announcement by City Clerk A. J. Van Wie that written protests received represented only 6 per cent of the interested frontage.

An inquiry by Mayor Spencer Robinson revealed the fact that no protestants were in the audience for which he expressed much gratitude. He called attention to the fact that various city administrations have tried to have this road improved for the past six years.

Specifications provide for a foundation of four inches of asphaltic concrete and an inch and a half National surface. City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy stated that bids will be received September 20.

A minor operation was performed upon Walter Corwin of Burbank this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Missionaries to Tell About Work in India

Rev. and Mrs. George Franklin of India will be the principal speakers tonight at the Nazarene church, 1002 South Glendale avenue. Rev. and Mrs. Franklin have just recently returned from India and are prepared to give interesting talks tonight relative to the missionary work in India and existing conditions.

The meeting will begin tonight at 7:30 o'clock and a large attendance is anticipated.

LOST AND FOUND

J. A. Fisher of 605 West Doran street about 3:30 yesterday afternoon reported that his new Chevrolet had been stolen from in front of 133½ South Brand boulevard. An hour later, he reported that he found it—at the same place.

Prayer in Relation To Life Forms Topic

The Glendale Presbyterian Senior Christian Endeavor society reports well attended meetings, despite the vacation period. Under the leadership of H. H. Wieve of 438 Burchett street, the topic Sunday night was "Lessons in the School of Prayer."

J. E. Ware of 902 East Windsor road next Sunday, at 6:15 p. m., will lead the discussion of "A Singing Psalm."

Prayer was presented Sunday in its relation to the life of the individual; in its aspect as a vital power in the family circle; in its relation to business life, and to the life of America as a nation. One prominent business man emphasized the helpfulness of prayer in the settlement of trade "kicks," and of disagreements among his employes. Another quoted an editorial printed some time ago in The Wall Street Journal:

"What America needs is a revival of piety, the kind mother and fathr used to have—piety that counted it good business to stop for daily family prayers before breakfast right in the middle of the harvest; that quit work a half hour earlier Thursday night, so as to get the chores done and go to prayer meeting; that borrowed money to pay the preacher's salary, and prayed fervently in secret for the salvation of the rich man who looked with scorn on such unbusinesslike behavior.

"That's what we need now to clean this country of the filth of graft, and of greed, petty and big; of worship of fine houses and big lands and high office and grand social functions.

"What is this thing we are worshipping but a vain repetition of what decayed nations fell down and worshipped just before their light went out? Read the history of Rome in decay and you'll find luxury there that could lay a big dollar over our little doughnut that looks so large to us.

"Great wealth never made a nation substantial nor honorable. There is nothing on earth that looks good that is so dangerous for a man or a nation to handle as quick, easy, big money. If you do resist its deadly influence the chances are that it will get your son. It takes greater and finer heroism to dare to be poor in America than to charge an earthworks in Manchuria."

New Sanitarium Building Showing Progress of Construction to August 4, 1923, to Be Completed in January.

RESOURCES AND LOCATION

The property of this institution, which is included in the first mortgage held by the Trustee to secure this Gold Note issue, is conservatively appraised at more than twice the amount of the mortgage.

In addition to the valuable tract on which the new buildings are now being constructed, the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital Corporation owns one-third of a large block of land in the very center of the City of Glendale, appraised at $150,000, and included in this mortgage, on which is located its new hospital and maternity home, and which, at present, is the most valuable earning asset of the Corporation.

The location of the new Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital is all that can be desired, over twenty acres of elevated, wooded land, commanding a magnificent panorama of several hundred square miles of mountains, valleys, cities, and the distant ocean, having been secured for the new site.

dreams never come true while the dreamer sleeps?

DO YOU KNOW THAT

many of us have been dreaming for the past 3 yrs. and have never woke up, and let thousands of splendid opportunities pass us by? while many others who dreamed and woke up grasped the opportunity and made thousands by investing in Brand boulevard lots?

WAKE UP

Mr. Dreamer.

Call in at 106 East Wilson St., Federal Bank Building, and ask for Mr. Rhoades and he will show you a Brand boulevard lot just south of Colorado where you can handle for $10,000 cash that will make you $5000 to $7000 by January 1, 1924. It's a snap.

COUNCIL MINUTES

Council assembled at 8:15 o'clock p. m. All members present. Minutes of August 23 read and approved.

Opening of Bids

In accordance with call, bids were opened and publicly declared for the improvement of Gsell, Gilbert and Pacific, from the following bidders: C. L. Hill, Peter L. Ferry, E. L. Fleming. Bids referred to the city engineer for checking and report.

Adopt Maps

Councilman Kimlin introduced a resolution entitled, "A resolution adopting map of tract 6965 and accepting on behalf of the public the avenues, streets, alleys and public places shown thereon," which was read, and on motion seconded by Councilman Horn, the same was numbered resolution No. 2079 and passed.

Councilman Davis introduced a resolution entitled, "A resolution adopting map of Sparr Heights and accepting on behalf of the public the avenues, streets, alleys and public places shown thereon," which was read, and on motion seconded by Councilman Hall, the same was numbered resolution No. 2080 and passed.

Hearings

This being the time to receive protests against the improvement of Raleigh street, the clerk reported no protests received and there were no protestants present.

This being the time set for hearing protests against the improvement of Sycamore Canyon road, south, on motion of Councilman Davis, seconded by Councilman Horn, all protests were denied.

A remonstrance, signed by property owners in the Verdugo Canon district, asking that some action be taken regarding M. I. D. No. 6 bonds, upon which the property owners were paying taxes, and calling attention to a meeting to be held Wednesday evening in that district to take up that matter along with others, was, on motion ordered filed, and Deputy City Attorney Tarr was instructed to attend the meeting in behalf of the city.

Temporary Building

On motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Davis, Kemper Campbell was granted permission to erect a temporary tract office on lot 4, tract No. 3693, for a period not to exceed ninety days.

Grant Demand

On motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, demand in the sum of $150 was allowed and ordered paid.

Fire Line Permit

On motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Hall, application of the Tropico Potteries for permit to make water connection and run a 6 inch main to their property for fire protection, was granted subject to the conditions that all expenses in connection with the same be paid by the Tropico Potteries, that no water be used except in case of fire at which time they were to pay for said water used, also to pay the sum of $4 per month for stand-by service.

Improvement of Cerritos

On motion of Councilman Davis seconded by Councilman Kimlin, city engineer and city attorney were instructed to draft the necessary proceedings for the improvement of the lower end of Cerritos avenue.

Set-Back Line

On motion of Councilman Davis, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, ten-foot set-back line was established on Central avenue from Broadway to San Fernando, and on San Fernando road from Pacific avenue to south city limits, and superintendent of buildings was instructed to issue building permits in accordance therewith.

Tranfer of Funds

On motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Hall, the sum of $1650 was ordered transferred from the unappropriated general expense allowance to the following divisions:

Five hundred dollars to the supplies and expense of the detective service account of the police department for the upkeep and operation of the police Dodge automobile.

Nine hundred dollars to the supplies and expense of the police patrol account of the police department for the upkeep and operation of the police Studebaker automobile.

Fifty dollars to the capital outlay of the police judge for the purchase of a Ford automobile for the use of the bailiff.

Two hundred dollars to the capital outlay of the engineering department for the purchase of a second-hand adding machine.

Ordinances Adopted

On motion of Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, "An ordinance of the council of the city of Glendale fixing the rates of taxes and levying taxes for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1923," introduced on the sixteenth day of August 1923, was amended.

The ordinance entitled, "An ordinance of the city council of Glendale fixing the rates of taxes and levying taxes for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1923," which was introduced August 16, 1923, was read, and on motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Hall, said ordinance was passed, as amended, and numbered Ordinance No. 833.

Councilman Horn introduced an ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance amending Ordinance No. 529 passed January 12, 1922, and entitled, 'An Ordinance of the City of Glendale establishing a residential district, an industrial district, and four commercial districts in said city; regulating and restricting the location and locations of and the maintenance and carrying on of industries, trades and business in said city; providing for a "Residential, Industrial and Commercial District Map" of said city; prescribing the penalty for the violation hereof; and repealing certain ordinances,' by adding thereto a new section to be numbered Section 4dd," which was read and laid on the table.

North Central Avenue Residents to Meet

The North Central Avenue Improvement association, will meet 7 o'clock Wednesday night, August 29, in the offices of Charles B. Guthrie, 110 West Broadway, it is announced.

The object of the meeting, according to Mr. Guthrie, will be to discuss the matter of light standards for North Central avenue. Only property owners having interests on Central avenue north of Broadway will be present.

SUNSET CLUB TO MEET MONTHLY

the club members and guests in singing "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Recalling the days when the Sunset club members were girls and boys of fifty or more years ago, were songs and recitations by R. N. Taylor, A. H. Cleaveland and Jeffrey Wisner Gillette.

Mr. Taylor sang "The Hickory Cane," a song reminiscent of days in the old home; Mr. Cleaveland gave a poem, "Old Times and New," and Mr. Gillette recited an original poem and sang a California pioneer song, "Sweet Betsy From Pike."

During the informal program Mr. and Mrs. Oldright were presented with bouquets of flowers, candy and fruit, and had the pleasure of having their picture taken with club members and guests gathered about them.

Many Send Regrets

Messages of regret at not being able to be present were received from Mrs. Susanna Hagey, age 97, who is next oldest member of the club; from Charles Mallett, 91 year of age; from Mrs. Sarah S. Scott, 87 years of age, and Joseph M. Olmstead, 87 years of age.

In sending his regrets Mr. Olmstead wrote the following sketch:

"Dear Veterans of the Eighteenth Century:—Regret that I am unable to attend the meeting at this time and talk over our old school days, when the three R's 'Readin', 'Ritin' and 'Rithmetic,' were the foundation of an education, and three R's were in vogue as accessories so as not to 'spoil the child', a 'Rattan Rod and Ruler,' that was used as a ferrule to enforce the law against the crime of whispering.

"Desks faced the walls, one side for boys, the other for girls, a two-inch plank with no back for a seat, the A. B. C.'s in front of the teacher, whose desk was on a low raised platform, a blackboard back of him. In summer a woman teacher who was paid $5 to $6 a month, in winter a man of muscle with a salary of $20 to $25 or who boarded around at hog-killing time and enforced despotic rule over the larger boys, who worked on the farm in the summer.

Old Civic Center

"A wide parade ground made a civic center and was used for town meetings and also for general training as a part of military education, a red letter time for the boys that ended with a fight on the meadows.

"The academy schools took the place of the high school and fitted boys for a college education. In spelling in the 'deestric' school, barefoot children stood in line and passed any who missed a word until they reached the head, and then went to the front.

"Chicago was the far west, beyond an unknown land. Those good old days are gone and now fads take their place."

At the close of the affair yesterday, punch made by Mrs. F. S. Card was served and the health of Mr. and Mrs. Oldright drunk by the company. Later a beautiful yellow cake, with the dates 1869 and 1923 and the name Oldright in blue icing, was cut. The cake was made by Mrs. Hoibrook. This cake, with lovely chocolate cakes made by Mrs. J. L. McOmber and Mrs. H. L. Jenkins, was served with brick ice cream.

Veterans Eligible

In the decision that the club should meet once a month it was unanimously agreed that the meetings should be open to all Glendalians or visitors over 80 years of age and to the husbands or wives or other relatives of members who wished to attend.

Before departing both Mr. and Mrs. Oldright expressed their appreciation of the celebration of their anniversary, and, standing about them, the club members and guests sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

It is interesting to note that the oldest club member present yesterday was Henry Clay Brown, aged 91 years, and the youngest person in the club company was Mrs. Oldright, 74 years of age. Others present and their ages were Mrs. Zilpha Parker, 88; John Edward Oldright, 87; Mrs. J. C. Plannett, 87; Jeffrey Wisner Gillette, 86; Mrs. A. E. Wallace, 86; Mrs. Caroline Frances Wilcox, 86; A. H. Cleaveland, 86; Mrs. Mary Phillips, 86; Mrs. Sarah J. Fambrough, 85; Mrs. Julina Hayes, 80; R. N. Taylor, 77. Their ages total 1099.

In gathering together these old people The Glendale Evening News feels that the city of Glendale is in possession of a unique organization and one that should be reverenced by every Glendalian.

Change Age Limits

When the Sunset club idea was first given expression in the columns of The Glendale Evening News only old people past ninety years were eligible. As far as was possible all old people past ninety were enrolled and sketches of their lives appeared in The News. Finally the age was extended to include all old people past eighty-five years of age, and now we are interested in enrolling all Glendalians past eighty years of age.

Sharing in the success of yesterday's meeting are Mesdames B. O. Holbrook, F. S. Card, J. L. McOmber, H. L. Jenkins, B. E. Ralph and M. T. Wood-Arefwedson, who received and entertained the club members at the Holbrook home; the Glendale Florist, 120 South Brand, which sent an attractive bouquet of dahlias and asters for Mrs. Oldright; Ralph W. Browne, photographer, and the Glendale Ice Cream company, which generously contributed brick ice cream. To all these The Glendale Evening News expresses hearty appreciation.

KIRK WRITES OF ENGLISH PEOPLE

Social Unrest Seen in Street Meetings by Glendale's Globe Trotter

'differences' of these countries, it will be in trying to please and inform the majority, who have never been over here and probably never will be.

"We landed in Newcastle on July 22, at 5 p. m. It had taken us an hour to make the miles up 'The Tyne,' past all the shipyards and shipping to our dock. As it was too late to get an express train, we remained aboard for the night in our comfortable quarters, after we had reported to the British authorities. I am pleased to say that our reception by them was as agreeable as it could possibly have been.

"The young man who inspected our baggage merely took a peep into one grip, asked us if we had only clothing and gave us his O.K. The scrutinizing of our passports and visas was done so cordially that I felt as if we had met an old friend.

Tells About People

"He thanked me for producing them, hardly glanced at them, asked me why and for how long we had come to Britain, quickly put his stamp on the visa and thanked me three or four times more before I got away. Heigho! I'm surely claiming relationship with Johnny Bull!

"After supper a little crowd of us sauntered up town. Our way lay through the poorer section, where the white moon faces of the women and the pinched, scrawny faces of the little children showed under-nourishment. The first person I met, a boy of about 10, asked 'Scare-cut, sah? After he had repeated it I asked an Englishman of our party what he wanted. He interpreted it as meaning, 'Cigarette card, Sir?' He was begging the little prize cards, which come in cigarette packages. I remarked that we had been up against three foreign tongues already, and now had to tackle the English, Scotch, Welsh and Irish.

Sees Social Unrest

"In a large public, open space, four separate speakers were surrounded by large crowds (it was Sunday, remember), two political, the Salvation Army and an infidel. The crowds were surely typical of the English shipping and working masses, just such as you have seen pictures of, and from the taunting and interruptions of the speakers in the political harangues, I would judge that the laboring element is not unanimous in its opinion of how to adjust social conditions even in England.

"We saw the wall of the 'Old Castle,' black and crumbling with age, and a little of the business section of Newcastle, before leaving for Glasgow Monday forenoon. A fast express train took us through green fields of oats, wheat, potatoes, turnips and cabbage, pastures, where sheep and cattle were peacefully browsing (the hay is already in shock) the pretty hedges separating the fields; the whole having a quiet, restful appearance, and being just like what we had always read about rural England and Scotland."

(Three more columns of Mr. Kirk's description of Scotland will be published in Friday's edition of The Glendale Evening News, one of the best letters yet received since he left Glendale with his family on a tour of the world.—Editor.)

Many Families Are Moving to Glendale

Mrs. Stella Goodman reports rentals unusually active during the past week. Newcomers are arriving every day in search of homes for the winter. She has place a number of these strangers.

Mrs. Winifred Smith, with her son and her mother, have leased a cozy cottage at 418 South Everett street.

S. T. Cochran of Seattle is nicely located at 403 West Doran street.

J. W. Ritter, recently of Madero, is located at 124 Stocker street.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eaton, formerly of Santa Barbara, have moved to a unit of the commodious bungalow court at North Louise and Stocker streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Naylor Rogers to 114 Arden avenue.

Clifford Clingan has leased the former Dean home at 719 North Central avenue.

Cerritos Opening and Paving Is Ordered

The City Council last night took action to open the southern end of Cerritos avenue as an approach to the new depot of the Southern Pacific. Councilman Sam Davis made a motion, which was passed unanimously, that proceedings should be commenced for the opening and paving of the extension of Cerritos avenue through two lots acquired several months ago for this purpose.

The subject was not discussed in the open meeting although it was intimated that this action is in conformity with the expressed wish of T. H. Williams, assistant general manager of the Southern Pacific.

The addition of eight new members by initiation marked the session of the Elks' lodge on East Colorado last night, the initiates being Wm. M. Chapman, W. T. Gillian and J. A. Hughes, all of Glendale; James F. Chatham, San Fernando; James E. Lamphear, Eagle Rock; Frank H. Southwick, Van Nuys; Glade L. White, Lankershim; Howard C. Wood, Burbank.

Following the initiation and the regular business session, the members were entertained with a well-balanced program of vaudeville and a lunch.

An innovation that was introduced for the first time at last night's meeting was a program rendered by a jazz orchestra that has been recruited from among the members of the old orchestra and the band, and the performance that was given by the new organization was enthusiastically received by the members of the lodge.

The complete details of the indoor circus that was held last Friday and Saturday are not yet available, as a number of items are still to be disposed of, but it is stated that the two days' frolic brought in a handsome sum to the fund that is to be used to defray the expenses of the Elks' band to the annual state convention at Eureka next month.

Owing to the fact that next Monday, the regular meeting night of the lodge, falls on Labor Day, no meeting will be held, a dispensation to this effect having been received by the lodge.

G. Gordon Whitnall To Address Realtors

G. Gordon Whitnall, director of the City planning commission of Los Angeles, will address the members of the Glendale Realty board at their weekly meeting held tomorrow noon, in the Egyptian Village cafe.

The planning commission of the City of Los Angeles is one of the foremost in the United States and their zoning ordinance, which will be discussed by Mr. Whitnall, has been used for a model by many organizations working for civic development throughout the country.

It was largely through Mr. Whitnall's efforts that the Regional Planning commission, which includes the county of Los Angeles, was formed.

$50,000 Property Is Bought by Attorney

The northwest corner of Wilson and Maryland avenues has been bought by Bert P. Woodard, prominent local attorney, at a reported price of $50,000. The sale was made through the office of Dr. Jessie A. Russell, realtor, 208 South Brand boulevard. The sellers were residents of Los Angeles.

The property is improved with a ten-room white stucco home and double garage on the front of the 150x145-foot lot, with a two-apartment house in the rear.

Attorney Woddard states that he bought the property as an income-yielding investment and has no plans to announce at the present time.

GO TO CATALINA

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse M. Smith will leave tomorrow for Catalina Island, where they will remain until the end of the week for a brief vacation.

Community Band Will Form Exchange Topic

The Community Service band is scheduled to be one of the principal topics of discussion tomorrow noon in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Exchange club.

The band leader, Adolph LeBourgeois of Los Angeles, and H. E. Cavanah, both of whom are connected with the Cavanah Studio at 130 North Orange street, will be present.

Capt. D. Ripley Jackson, president of the club, is expected to explain his plans to attend the national convention of Exchange clubs in Springfield, Mass.

JONSES COME HOME

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jones of 206 North Louise street returned yesterday from an outing at Avalon. While on Catalina Island, they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nichols of Pasadena. Mr. Jones is proprietor of the confectionery at 125 North Brand boulevard known as the Poppy Shoppe.

TUJUNGA

POETIC RIVALRY SEEN IN SIGNS

Builders Ring Rhyme-chimes To Amusement of Our Hill Slope Friends

Sherman was right—war is all of that, be it racial or commercial. But the latest war that threatens to annihilate the peace of a community is brewing in Tujunga between two contracting and building firms who are determined to inflict mortal wounds if the opening of hostilities is an indication of future action.

The plot commenced to congeal when the following was concocted by an enterprising firm and incorporated in its advertising:

"Have you seen Dick Smith's new office
Out in Tujunja town?
It's a place where plans and estimates
Are drawn and figured on.
If you're contemplating building,
Whether large or small,
Just call on Smith, the contractor,
He's sure to please you all."

Like a bolt from the blue this burst forth in all its glory before the popping eyes of the populace. All the sidewalk Arabs, who have been spending the summer invoking the muses on behalf of some flapper, gnashed their molars with envy.

Something Starts

But the worst was not yet. Jeffries & Jeffries, also enterprising, lamped the poetical effort of their competitor and realized that they must battle not only low bids, but low verse as well.

They buzzed each other earnestly, but not wishing to cast any asparagus directly at a worthy opponent, found no solution forthcoming until one of the Jeffs was assaulted by an idea. He rushed madly to his printer and the next day countered the thrust with this:

"We're not poets, which we regret,
But—we can build any kind of a house, you bet."

The town gasped and swallowed the municipal Adam's apple. The war was on!

Poetry of Construction

Each faction is reported barricaded in their respective strongholds, supplied with 1000 rounds of ammunition ink, determined to fight it out on "them lines" if it takes all the pens they have.

Poetical contractors! Nobody suspected them either, and the populace anxiously awaits on the sidelines to see who next will laugh out of turn.

Letter Tells About Visit to Switzerland

Mrs. Camilla Smith of 809 South Verdugo road and Miss Esther Lundstrom of Hollywood, who are touring Europe, are in Switzerland, according to word received by friends here.

One communication with date of August 5, at Venice, Italy, contained enthusiastic expressions of pleasure in their experience in traveling about the city in the gondolas and gliding under the picturesque bridges, free from dust and flivver smoke.

The second communication received at the same time, was posted at Luzerne, in the Swiss Alps, where they were enjoying the hospitality of a mountain hotel, high above the clouds. One of the pleasant experiences while there, they wrote, was witnessing the marvelous sunrise over the snow-clad alps at 4:30 o'clock in the morning.

As mail from there requires about fifteen days for transit, they are probably in Denmark, Mrs. Smith's native home. After visiting a short time they will return to the United States and their home some time in September.

Read W. B. Kirk's Letters?
Adventures Of Americans
Oil Game Demands Study
Espee Station Only a Starter

By Gil A. Cowan

WITH the publication of each letter from W. B. Kirk, Glendale insurance man who is traveling Europe and other parts of the world with his family, the writer cannot help but become more and more interested for who is there that breathes, to paraphrase the Lay of the Last Minstrel, who has not said "would that I were a world traveler in far distant land."

And then when one is away, that "homesick feeling" makes you wish you were back in Glendale, for instance, where everything is peaceful—too peaceful as far as our city editor is concerned, when it comes to putting sensational local news in the paper.

At the same time, The Glendale Evening News is proud to present the special correspondence of Mr. Kirk who was the first secretary of Glendale's first Chamber of Commerce and no doubt he is boosting this city in his travels through England and Scotland, as well as other countries, although he confesses that the alien jargon is provoking at times.

Taking us away to the far away corners of the earth the Christian Science Monitor suggests:

Should a tourist be privileged to accompany at will the expeditions from Field Museum at Chicago to South America, China, Tibet, and the Malayan Archipelago, he would find opening before him a vista unequaled in mystery and adventure. For example, he could start with the geological expedition which is blazing a trail into the little-known interior of Brazil in the expectation of finding precious stones and crystals. At Para, Brazil, he might join the zoological expedition in search of unusual birds and mammals, traveling with it along the entire stretch of the mighty Amazon, through the reaches of forest that line its banks to the little town of Jean on the border line of Peru and Brazil. Here, he could pick up the botanical expedition, with which he could journey to the coast of Peru. Thence, via Chile, he could go to the South Sea Islands and the Philippines, where another expedition is studying the ethnology of these islands and tribes. A trip to China with the anthropological expedition, traveling through the little-known villages of the inland of this great country, would constitute a fascinating climax, although he would still be far from having exhausted the possibilities of his itinerary.

And, getting completely off the earth, The Pasadena Star-News proceeds to speak knowingly of ethereal possiblilities when it says:

Wireless communication with Mars will be realized 100 years hence, is the confident prediction of Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, world-renowned electrical expert. The prophecy is made by a man of science, after much sober thought and is worthy of respect and is worth believing. Achievements almost as strange as this have come already.

The gasoline situation seems to have quieted down the last few days, with the various refiners diminishing their stocks at cut rates.

Seemingly, lower prices have done nothing to offset the efforts of oil producers to glut the market, although The Hollywood Citizen comments as follows:

There are some who would lead us to believe that the great production of oil in Southern California spells disaster for the oil business. The heads of the oil companies themselves do not seem to be alarmed by the situation.

We read in our papers today of one large oil company increasing its capitalization by twenty millions.

We read every day of new drilling being started by the big companies that have achieved great success in the oil industry.

If the scare about overproduction is meant only for the type of investor who constitutes the victim of the oil stock shark, it is perhaps well.

This victim type should be made to understand that the oil game is for those who study.

But, if the scare is merely meant for the great wealth-producing industry of Southern California, perhaps it were well to face all the facts before we are frightened.

Announcement of work starting on Glendale's new Southern Pacific station is the best news of the week. It is the beginning of a centralization of activities in Glendale community for the great surrounding residential sections. May more such improvements be obtained.

Raiders Loot Bonded Warehouse of Liquor

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Ten men held up three guards in the Waken & McLoughlin bonded warehouse early today and escaped with forty-five barrels of whiskey valued at $150,000.

The bandits piloted two motor trucks into which they loaded their loot. Several cases of liquor as well as the barrel goods were taken. Several barrels which were rolled down from the second floor were abandoned in front of the entrance as there was no room for them aboard the trucks.

The ten raiders leveled guns at two private watchmen and a government agent with the threat to kill them if they spread an alarm.

ADVENTISTS HEAR ELDER G. A. SNYDER

Large Crowd at Camp Meeting Applaud Speech on Religious Liberty

The auditorium tent at the camp meeting of the Southern California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists in Los Angeles, was crowded last night to hear a sermon by Elder George A. Snyder. Elder Snyder's sermon came as a climax of a very busy day in camp and his message was heartily praised by those gathered for the service.

He said in part: "My text is easy to remember, but not so easy to comprehend. 'God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life.' Only he that believeth can receive the benefits of salvation. Men can never be compelled to believe. They may be compelled by law to act as though they believe; but all such attempts to compel belief only increases unbelief. It is impossible that He who voluntarily gave Himself for us could be pleased with anything but voluntary service from us.

Matter of Choice

"It is our business as Christians to so lift up the Saviour in our lives that men may be constrained to choose Him as their portion. It is not our business to attempt to force them to our terms or condemn them for refusing to believe.

"When God created our first parents, He left them free to choose between good and evil. Soon after the fall men began to be intolerant of each other's ideas of religion. The first murder was committed over a question of religion, and rivers of blood have flown since over similar questions, all because men fail to accord to each other the same freedom in matters of religion, which God gives to all.

"The Creator endowed all men with these equal and inalienable rights when the human race had its beginning. It has been asserted by many would-be reformers that the Declaration of Independence is atheistic because it contains no recognition of God. This is a fallacy. In its very first sentence the preamble recognizes God as the great Creator, who endowed all His creatures with liberty.

Freedom Is Sustained

"Some think that this recognition of God in the preamble should be amended to conform with the modern theories of evolution; but I do not know of any provision anywhere in our fundamental laws whereby any portion of the Declaration of Independence can possibly be changed. The only way these anti-fundamentalists can consistently carry out their program is to overthrow our government and begin over again with no rights conferred on anyone; but with the dark prospect of an eternal struggle in which the strong shall continually triumph over the weak whose only privileges would be such as the strong might see fit to temporarily tolerate.

"In a republic like ours if the religious element of society should claim and be permitted to exercise the power to close down the lid on all the various methods by which the non-religious element seeks to promote its happiness, then the non-religious element would have an equal right to organize and eventually turn the tables and close all the churches on Sunday so that non-religionists could monopolize the day of rest for that kind of pleasure which appeals to them. In fact, they might go so far as to close up the churches entirely as they did in the French revolution, which was merely a tremendous reaction against the political power assumed by the clergy."

Will Run Excursion In Path of Eclipse

For the benefit of those who wish to see the eclipse of the sun in its full totality on September 10, as well as to enjoy the special fete and pageant which is to be staged in an elaborate manner with 500 performers at Coronado on the same day, Ralph J. Chandler, general manager of the Los Angeles Steamship company, announces two special eclipse excursions to be made by the coastwise liner Yale.

This vessel will leave Los Angeles harbor at 3 p. m. Sunday, September 9, arriving at San Diego at 8 p. m. Then on Monday morning, the day of the eclipse and a state holiday, the vessel will leave her berth at the Municipal pier, San Diego, at 10 o'clock on a special trip to be made directly in the line of the total shadow from a point at sea some miles off the coast and then south around the group of three islands known as the Coronados, lying of the coast of old Mexico.

B. & O. Express Train Wrecked, One Killed

SUNMAN, Ind., Aug. 28.—Train No. 13 of the Baltimore and Ohio railway, an express bound from New York for Chicago, was wrecked here early today when it ran into a washout. The locomotive and 15 cars left the rails. The engineer, J. Lovenger, of Garret, Ind., was killed.

The track had been washed out for ten rail lengths. The locomotive was overturned. The wreckage was strewn over the double track line, tying up traffic in both directions.

INVESTORS SEEK CHANCE TO HELP

Betterment of Conditions Is Often Vital Factor in Making Decision

Stocks and securities of many and various kinds are constantly being offered the investing public in this state, and many of these securities are undoubtedly of a sound type that insures the holder of a safe dividend, but among a certain class of investors there is the tendency to investigate any business into which they may be asked to put their money to see to what purpose their funds will be put, and what projects are to be carried out with the capital that is raised.

It is the desire of many investors to become associated with business projects that are following a definite plan of development or that are working for the betterment, social as well as commercial, of the particular region in which they are located; and a firm that is working along these lines, other things being equal and the soundness of its securities being assured, is certain to be favored by the investors who wish to see their money put to the task of aiding in a definite work of improvement.

In the offering of the six per cent gold notes of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, in which Glendale investors are asked to participate, there is not only a sound investment, secured by valuable property under the management of keen, far-sighted business men who have already established a record for success, but there is also an opportunity to place one's money at work where it will aid in relieving human suffering and making the world a better place to live in.

ICED DRINKS O. K., SAY DIETITIANS

Ice Made by Modern Method Contains No Bacteria to Spread Disease

Every sound, sensible theory has among its adherents those who carry it to extremes. Probably there is no better example of this than the various dietetic fads which arise from a misunderstanding of the scientific principle involved. At one time, calories were regarded by many people as the only index to the health value of any food. Later vitamines occupied the center of the dietetic stage.

As a point of fact, however, the very basic precept of any theory of dietetics is that man is omniverous and requires a diet composed not of any one kind of food, but a sensible balance of all kinds. Moreover, it is extremely important that the food be pleasing to the person who consumes it. Physiologists say that food, eaten merely out of a sense of duty or in adherence to a strict dietetic formula, does not supply nearly the amount of nourishment as does the food which genuinely appeals to the appetite and taste of the person concerned. In nine cases out of ten, the appetite of a normal person is the best guide to what he should eat.

During these hot summer months, it is only natural that a person should desire iced drinks. In days past, these were considered harmful. Not because they were cold, however, but because the ice used was usually cut from ponds or rivers and contained bacteria. Today, with modern methods of ice manufacture, the ice you use in tea or lemonade is usually purer than drinking water. Just enough ice to chill the drink should be used. For, curious as it may seem, an extremely cold drink produces a physiological reaction which makes the person really feel warmer after he has consumed it. To alleviate thirst and to secure the greatest cooling effect, use ice and consume the drink slowly.

'TEA WITH KICK' AND 27 STARS!

Feature Comedy Playing at Glendale Theatre Last Times Today

"Tea—With a Kick" shows at the Glendale Theatre the last times today, a seven-part film ensemble that is to the silver screen what a musical comedy is to the stage.

This frothy, delicious beverage is just cram-full of pretty girls and gorgeous scenes and costumes. In the whirlwind of festivity are twenty-seven stars, ten prize-winning beauties and a ballet of 100 Hollywood heartbreakers.

"Tea—With a Kick" has a regular wallop. It is saucy, spicy, funny, merry, fizzy. Such a concoction has rarely if ever before been brought to the screen without spilling over.

"There's no law against serving 'Tea—With a Kick' in your theatre," says a well-known critic, writing in a Los Angeles morning paper. "You never saw such a list of celebrities outside of a church benefit or a fight at the Hollywood stadium."

TRADE IMPROVES, IS BANK REPORT

Federal Reserve Statement Is Evidence of Increase In Coast Business

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—"The volume of business transacted throughout the Twelfth district during July was considerably larger than a year ago," according to a summary of business conditions in the Twelfth Federal Reserve district, made public today by John Perrin, chairman of the board of federal reserve agents.

In comparing figures of the late spring, some falling off was reported, but such a decline is a normal seasonal occurrence, the statement said. The summary follows:

"Trade at retail, as indicated by sales of thirty-five department stores in seven cities, was 19.8 per cent greater in value, during July, 1923, than during July, 1922, the largest increase, as compared with the corresponding month a year ago, reported since March, 1923.

"Production and shipment of lumber declined during July, but the amount of new business entered on the books of reporting mills increased for the first time since April. This increase in the demand for lumber came at a time when mills were completing delivery on the record volume of orders received during the first quarter of the year. A shortage of mill stocks of lumber is still reported in many sections.

Oil Production ains

"Further gains in the production of petroleum were reported from California during July. Shipments were far below production, and stored stocks increased from 72,637,147 barrels on July 1 to 78,655,604 barrels on August 1.

"A slight decline in the volume of building under construction and a marked decline in prospective construction, as indicated by the number and value of building permits issued, was reported during the past month. That building continues extremely active, however, is shown by the fact that the present and prospective volume of construction is considerably greater than it was one year ago, when the building industry was experiencing a period of greater than normal activity.

"Promise of bountiful yields of most of the principal crops of the district has been contained in reports received from the harvest fields. The wheat crop, which is now moving to market, is the largest which has been produced in the district in recent years, present estimates forecasting a total yield of 136,739,000 bushels, compared with 99,086,000 bushels produced in 1922, 126,548,000 bushels in 1921 and 105,307,000 bushels in 1920.

"Loans of reporting member banks of the district increased by $16,000,000 during the four-week period ending August 8, and their deposits declined by $11,000,000 during the same period. Total discounts of the Federal Reserve bank declined $8,000,000 during the four weeks ending August 15, and at $73,000,000 on the latter date were $42,000,000 above the low point of January 10, 1923.."

MRS. HUTCHINSON PAINFULLY HURT

Prominent Club Woman Is Victim of Accident in Hollywood

Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, former Tuesday Afternoon club president of 246 North Orange street, received such painful injuries Tuesday night when she was struck, dragged and run over by an automobile near the Hollywood Bowl that she is confined to her bed at her home. It was a miraculous escape, according to Mrs. Hutchinson and witnesses, and, while her injuries are extremely painful, she and her family are thankful that she was not more seriously or perhaps fatally injured.

"We had attended the concert in the Bowl," said Mrs. Hutchinson in telling of the accident, "and were coming down the walk for pedestrians, roped off from the driveway for automobiles. I was walking along with my hand on the rope and was just ready to go across to where our car was parked directly opposite. There was an open space between us and our car.

Fell Under Machine

"Just as I was about to step out into this open space an automobile shot suddenly toward me, struck me and dragged me five feet. My hand was still on the rope and finally when the machine stopped my hand struck one of the posts holding the rope and I fell in front of the machine, which was on top of my body.

In addition to a badly lacerated left hand, torn by the rope and injured by contact with the post, Mrs. Hutchinson is suffering with sprains and bruises on all parts of her body.

The name of the woman who was driving the car was not ascertained, but, according to witnesses, she had evidently lost control of her car and became hysterical when she struck Mrs. Hutchinson.

BARGAINS BRING RUSH OF BUYERS

Special Offerings Are Lure To Glendale Women at Pendroy's Sale

"That Glendale housewives more than appreciate out of the ordinary merchandising events which provide many opportunities for real savings on the purchase of household necessities, has been amply demonstrated during the past three days at our store," declared Earl C. Pendroy of the Pendroy Department Store this morning.

In the advertising columns of last Saturday's Evening News this store published a page announcement, with special offerings from the basement. In fact it was announcing a birthday sale for this department.

Attractive bargains in household furnishings, including dishes and cooking utensils for every practical use, were placed on sale. The response was immediate, asserted Manager Baker of this department. "In fact we have been so well pleased with the success of this sale that hereafter, we will once a year, have a special birthday sale for the basement."

While hundreds of homes have benefited by this sales event still thousands of attractive bargains to be secured and a number of special items will be on sale for Wednesday.

"These specials events," asserted Mr. Pendroy, "are right in line with our policy of providing the very best merchandise possible, at the lowest possible price, and in turn passing on to our patrons at the smallest possible margin of profit.

MERCHANTS TALK OF PARKING LAW AND BUS SERVICE

Committee Reports on Those Seeking to Better Transportation

An early decision on the inauguration of a bus system in Glendale is expected by members of the Glendale Merchants' association, who discussed the subject at length at their weekly luncheon in the Citizens' building yesterday, when reports were submitted by the committee that had been appointed to investigate every phase of the matter.

A letter was received from the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce urging the association to assist in having the proposal put forward by the Verdugo Hills Transportation company considered as favorably as possible, basing their plea on the advantages that would accrue to the local business men through the fostering of closer trade relations between Glendale and the cities of the upper valley.

The bus committee reported on the action taken by the City Council in considering the bus system, and the committee was instructed to keep in close touch with all applicants for franchises and to gather such information as would permit the Glendale Merchants' association to arrive at a decision as to the best service for the city.

They Favor Competition

While it is realized that the firm that can furnish the best bus service is the one that should be awarded the franchise, it was asserted that a competitive system would tend to insure the best system being maintained for the convenience of the people of Glendale.

The city parking ordinance came up for discussion when George B. Karr, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce civics committee, asked for an expression of opinion on the part of the Glendale Merchants' association. The present parking system, that permits a car to be left in one place for three hours, is not suitable for the present traffic conditions in the city, it is claimed, and it is urged that the time be reduced to one hour.

Suggests Traffic Control

Various suggestions were offered for the handling of the volume of traffic that develops during the hours when the shopping rush is at its height, A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News advocating the appointment of a number of extra officers who should work as assistants to the present police, instructing shoppers as to the conditions that might govern the parking of cars in different zones and seeing that shoppers be allowed to make their purchases without being tagged for violation of any ordinance that might be passed by the City Council.

Shoppers could be asked to move their cars from the front of any store as soon as they had

Verdugo Woodlands Gas Bonds Cannot Be Recalled Until Suit Against City Has Been Dropped

PROTEST against a special tax levy in the Verdugo canyon to pay the interest on the $50,000 bonds, which will not be needed to extend the gas system, was received last night by the City Council. How to recall these bonds in the face of legal and technical obstacles was the subject of considerable discussion.

Dr. Harry B. Crocker of 2820 Oak Glen avenue brought up the subject by presenting a communication from the interested taxpayers:

Text of Their Plea

"We understand that nearly all of the money received from the sale of the bond issue lies in the city treasury and that your honorable body does not intend to spend it for the purpose for which the bonds were voted.

"Last October a suit was brought against the city and its officials for the purpose of abolishing this district and prevent further taxation which has not yet been tried. It appears from the records of this case in the county clerk's office that persons claiming to own all of the bonds are asking the courts to declare these bonds a good and valid lien on the property and compel us to be taxed for ten years to pay them. But, if the bonds are declared void, they ask only the money now in the city treasury for the sale of the bonds and the interest on the money which the city treasurer has received from the Glendale bank in which he is keeping it on deposit.

"We earnestly request that instead of attempting to tax further you would also offer in court to pay all money now in the city treasury received from the sale of the bonds and whatever interest the city has received from the banks to whatever persons the court desires should have it and that you make every effort to have a decision of the court in this case rendered promptly."

Explains Dilemma

Councilman Sam Davis, who acted as spokesman for the Council, admitted that it is quite true that money from the sale of these bonds is in the city treasury and will not be needed to pay for the extension of the gas system because this expense is being borne by the Southern California Gas company. He explained, however, that in order to redeem the bonds at this time it would be necessary to pay accrued interest on the bonds—which is beyond the financial ability of the city administration at this time.

Dr. Crocker stated that it is the general opinion in Verdugo canyon that the William R. Staats company, holder of the bonds, is willing to release them upon the payment of "banking interest" during the period the money from their sale has been in the city treasury.

Suit Interferes

The impossibility of selling the bonds until the lawsuit involving them has been brought to trial on November 3 was emphasized by Mr. Davis. He stated that

HYPERION BRINGS BEACHES CLOSER

New Boulevard Connects Santa Monica and Glendale; to Rush Work

Hyperion boulevard through the Los Feliz hills will connect Santa Monica boulevard with Brand (Glendale) boulevard, according to George B. Karr of 1725 South San Fernando road, member of the civics committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

A. J. Barnes, who is the originator of the idea of establishing this new connecting link between the beach and the foothills, is now a member of the board of directors of the traffic commission in Los Angeles.

Mr. Karr recently consulted with Mr. Barnes in regard to a rumor that Hyperion boulevard is to be connected with York boulevard instead of Brand boulevard. That there is any possibility of this being the case was denied by Mr. Barnes. He stated emphatically that the new highway will connect directly with Glendale boulevard, which is the Los Angeles end of Brand boulevard.

Mr. Barnes asserted that it is seventh among the most urgent projects to be pushed by the Los Angeles City Planning commission.

The establishment of a new Southern Pacific station in Glendale was commented upon favorably by Mr. Barnes. He called attention to the fact that the new boulevard would provide a direct approach to it from Santa Monica bay. He also commented with interest upon the improvement of Glendale avenue. He reminded Mr. Karr that this street will connect the up-country with the new boulevard over the hills.

THE AERIAL AGE IS COME!

H. L. FINLAY HURT IN AUTO PLUNGE

Sierra Park Pastor Pilots Car Down Embankment, Reports Realtor

The spectacular overturn and demolition of a heavy touring car, containing four passengers on the way home from the Presbyterian Synod at Asilomar, is reported by H. L. Finlay, of Finlay & Preston, realtors, 131 South Brand boulevard, one of the four, who suffered a broken rib.

The accident, which but for a freak of luck might have cost the lives of the entire party, occurred 11 o'clock Saturday morning, August 25, on the Ventura boulevard, about twelve miles north of Santa Barbara.

The wrecked machine belonged to Rev. W. D. Landis, of Sierra Park, who was driving. The other two passengers besides Mr. Finlay were S. G. Livingston and Tom Holden of South Pasadena and Lamanda Park, respectively.

Car Rolls On

The accident was caused by the sudden stop, without signal, of a light touring car directly ahead of the party. Rev. Landis threw on foot and emergency brakes, but the heavy car rolled on. Then, seeing that otherwise he would crash into the car ahead at twenty miles an hour or more, the pilot chose to swing off the road to the right, unable to turn left by reason of the stream of traffic flowing from the opposite direction.

It so happened that just at this point there was a sixty-foot fill. Plunging over the crumbling edge of the roadbed, the machine, carrying its four apparently doomed passengers, hurtled end over end to the creek bottom—throwing all four out at the last moment.

List of Injuries

An inspection of the group showed that all were still alive, none having received major injuries. Mr. Finlay, with his broken rib, was the most seriously hurt of the four. Next to him, in extent of damage, came Mr. Holden, who had been thrown into a barbed wire fence and painfully lacerated. Rev. Landis sustained cuts about the face and a broken wrist, while Mr. Livingston, the oldest man in the party, came out of the crash without so much as a scratch.

Investigation showed the machine to have been utterly wrecked. It was sold for junk and the party completed the trip home by motor bus.

COMING TO GLENDALE

Attorney Eugene J. Wix of 111 East Broadway has received a letter from his cousin, Ed Austin of Hetland, S. D., announcing that he is about ready to start on a motor trip to Glendale. He will be accompanied by his brother, William Austin, a cousin, Nels Olson, and a friend, Melvin Larson. Mr. Austin spent last winter in Glendale. He liked it so well that he is returning to remain permanently.

GROWTH OF CITY TOLD BY HERALD

Los Angeles Paper Features Glendale in Article on Front Page

Glendale's progress and its attractions held the limelight on Saturday, when practically the entire front page of the Los Angeles Evening Herald's real estate section was devoted to an account of conditions prevailing here and that showed Glendale's growth during recent years. The article, which is written by A. H. Clarke, real estate editor of The Evening Herald, points out that the growth of Glendale has been five times as great as the proportionate growth of Los Angeles in the period covered by the article.

The story dealing with Glendale was accompanied by a six-column series of pictures, showing woodland scenes inside the city limits, a picture of one of the new hotels that is to be erected here, a map of the city showing its proximity to the heart of Los Angeles, and a picture of a handsome girl ready to start on a morning canter through the canyons and bridle paths that lie close to the city.

The display in The Evening Herald was secured through the efforts of the advertising committees of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce as a part of the advertising campaign that is now being carried on.

Septuagnarians Will Hold Annual Reunion

The twelfth annual picnic of all the people in southern California who are over seventy years old is to be held on Saturday, September 1, at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, when an informal program will be presented following a basket luncheon. The reunions of the septuagenarians in the past have brought together many people who are still young in spirit and active in body, and plans are being made to have Saturday's picnic one of the most successful and enjoyable ever held.

Officer Sees Snakes On Brand Boulevard

Patrolman R. L. McLean reported to polire headquarters in the early morning hours that he had been seeing snakes. That is, he stated that he had seen one snake and that was enough. The aforesaid reptile was reposing in the gutter on the east side of Brand boulevard between Wilson avenue and Broadway. "Mac" added that it was either dead or asleep—he did not have time to see which.

TO PRINTERS' HOME

R. O. Dickson, 511 East Harvard street, will leave tomorrow for Colorado Springs, where he will enter the Union Printers' Home for a course of treatment.

B. L. Wix, C. B. Smith Are Admitted to Bar

Burt L. Wix and Clarence B. Smith of 703 North Jackson street, both graduates of the University of South Dakota, yesterday were admitted to the California bar. Mr. Wix, who came from Hetland, S. D., is a brother of Attorney Eugene L. Wix of 111 East Broadway, who came to California three years ago from Kimball, S. D. Attorney B. L. Wix is now connected with the escrow department of the Title Insurance and Trust Company of Los Angeles. Mr. Smith, who came from Sioux Falls, S. D., is now connected with the sales department of the American Lawbook Publishing company.

Nimrods Going To Mt. Lassen's Slopes for Deer

DEER in the vicinity of Mt. Lassen are preparing to take cover Monday before the arrival of a trio of local nimrods.

The party will include A. L. Baird of 130 South Brand boulevard and H. Reeve Darling of 1519 South Brand boulevard, both of whom have had considerable experience in stalking the wary deer.

Mr. Baird and others have made deer-slaying expeditions to Mt. Lassen for five successive seasons. Altogether, twenty-one deer have bit the dust because of their presence. Last season the three members of their party got the limit bag of six deer.

Owing to the fact that only two weeks can be spared from Glendale, the trip will be made to Chester without stop. Rube Gould, their Indian guide, already has laid in the supply of necessary provisions.

Oh, yes, Mt. Lassen is all "het up" over their coming, it is reported from Redding.

MARY SALMACIA'S DOG GOES A. W. O. L.

Buster, Little English Bull, Is Possessor of Black and Blue Eyes

"Somewhere a Voice Is Calling" has a pathetic note, and it is particularly pitiful to hear a little girl calling for a lost doggie.

This time it is "Buster" who has gone A. W. O. L. from the Frank Salmacia home, 361 West California. And Mary Margaret Salmacia has been calling for him since Sunday.

Yesterday she called at The Glendale Evening News office to sing, "Where Has My Little Dog Gone?" in the classified columns.

And Mr. Salmacia, the man who has made "his master's voice" famous in Glendale in connection with the Glendale Music company, 109 North Brand boulevard, says if any one sees a Boston bull, with one blue eye and the other black, to comply with Mary's plaintive tune,

"Bring back my doggie to me."

"Dog doesn't know enough to come home," says daddy.

GLENDALE'S WELL OFF, FIGURES ON SISTER CITY SHOW

Rate Here for Local Affairs Only $1.10; Eagle Rock Will Pay $1.71

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

With a tax rate set at $1.71 per $100 assessed valuation, which is the highest duty levied on any community within the corporate limits of Los Angeles, Eagle Rock may well look "across the border" thoughtfully to Glendale, whose rate this year is only $1.10, lower by 34 cents than the lowest rate in the metropolis, enjoyed by Hollywood, whose levy is $1.44.

Eagle Rock has high taxes—but no nearby high school now! She has also been handed a goodly increase in valuation, it is reported, with the net result that her taxpayers are offering about 100 per cent additional for municipal expenses.

In annexing with Los Angeles, Eagle Rock gained admission into high society. She is now "keeping up with the Jones's! Some of this Jones family have one tax rate, others another. It all depends upon the cut of the jib—and the conditions laid down at the time the surrender was made and the treaty signed.

What They Will Pay

For instance, Highland Park, the Arroyo Seco district, Old City, the western and southern section, all have $1.58; Garvanza and the University district have $1.57; Shoestring strip, Bairdstown, $1.54; Colegrove, East Hollywood, Hollywood and Terminal district, $1.44; San Pedro, $1.46; Sawtelle, $1.58; Lankershim, $1.52; San Fernando and Owensmouth, $1.55, which isn't any too much, but enough to operate the metropolitan corporation.

All told, this avalanche of gold will pour into the Los Angeles treasury during the coming year $15,357,838.58, of which $3,207,649.83 will be used for interest and sinking fund purposes. The balance will pay the cost of administering the municipal government.

Eagle Rock, with her changed school facilities, streets to be repaired, water problems and many other "blessings," is beginning to wonder what her percentage of the spoils will be. But the Los Angeles "City Fathers" aren't wondering. They know! Others who know have to smile.

They Have Their Troubles

The Angel City Council, however, despite its knowledge of the subject, are not doing much smil-

TODAY—They're Pretty in St. Louis.

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 28.—Who is the prettiest girl in St. Louis?

There's a question on which many judges are trying to reach an impartial decision in this metropolis, a product of the old South and the new West to determine the city's representative Miss St. Louis, at the Atlantic City Beauty tournament to select Miss America.

While with the West is generally associated wild-eyed politicians of the "farm bloc," who are perpetually starting revolts in the old parties, and that type of young woman popularly recognized as "corn fed," judging from the entries so far in the Miss St. Louis contest, a beauty will be sent to Atlantic City who has more than a fighting chance to humble the fair women of the self-acknowledged "Beauty Centers" out East.

At every bathing beach in St. Louis and environs elimination contests are being promoted to determine the candidates for the all-city beauty tournament. Some selections already have been made which may make the world forget that St. Louis was made famous by a certain brew—Anheuser-Bush (perhaps you remember the name), or that they have stockyards, Hornsbys and George Sislers out here.

The international air races here October 1, 2 and 3 are expected to see assembled a distinguished throng of airmen from the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy that will surpass anything of the kind ever held in this country.

Secretary of the Navy Denby, slated for an address at a banquet under auspices of the National Aeronautic Association, is taking a keen interest in the aero congress it was learned from Washington, and plans to come with a formidable array of planes.

The St. Louis meet is expected to be highly significant from the standpoint of the government, in providing for a national defense. From the commercial viewpoint the contests also will be of great importance. The air circus will give government officials and commercial interests a chance to compare the American airplane development with that of the important foreign powers, as well as to note progress made in the last year.

The navy this year wants to retrieve its laurels lost to the army last year at Detroit. Special Curtiss racing planes now being built are expected to develop a speed of more than 250 miles an hour.

With the army holding the world's speed, non-stop and endurance records the task and goal set by the navy for accomplishment is in itself sufficient to develop great interest in the St. Louis contests.

A refreshing story—that points to appreciation often shown though seldom publicly recorded—is that of a faithful druggist of St. Louis who labored untiringly twenty-five years at a modest salary and then as a reward was given the store in which he worked.

A quarter of a century ago Joseph F. Lager, at the age of thirty years, went to work as a pharmacist for Victor Diesing. Lager, a bachelor, gave his time and efforts religiously to his work. His employer became wealthy and as years went by more and more left his store to the employe.

One morning a short time ago Diesing walked into the store. Calling the clerk, he said:

"Joseph, the business is yours."

"Joseph" accepted the "humble gift." He regretted, as did his former employer, that the story had "gotten out," as they said it was simply a "private transaction between old friends."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FUNNY BRELLA

One day, as Uncle Wiggily hopped out of his hollow stump bungalow, Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy called after him:

"Where are you going?"

"To pay a little visit to Mr. Twistytail, the gentleman pig," answered the bunny rabbit. "He cut his nose on an old tin can and I want to cheer him up."

"That is very kind of you," said the muskrat lady housekeeper. "But you had better take your rubber coat and your rubber boots."

"Why?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Because it looks like rain," answered Nurse Jane.

The rabbit gentleman glanced up at the sky and said:

"Oh, I think I can go to Mr. Twistytail's and get back before the storm. Have you anything good I could take the gentleman pig, Nurse Jane?"

"I have some turnip shortcake," she answered, and she gave Uncle Wiggily a large slice for Mr. Twistytail.

Over the fields and through the woods hopped Uncle Wiggily, carrying the piece of turnip shortcake to Mr. Twistytail. The gentleman pig was glad to see his rabbit friend.

"How is your sore nose that you cut on a tin can?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Much better, thank you," grunted the pig, and then he did not talk for a while as he was busy eating Nurse Jane's cake.

All of a sudden there was a rumble and a roar, sounding so loud that Uncle Wiggily almost fell off his toadstool chair.

"Was that an auto going over a bridge?" asked the bunny.

"I think it was thunder," answered Mr. Twistytail. "We are going to have some rain."

"That's what Nurse Jane said," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "And as I didn't bring my rubber boots and coat, to say nothing of an umbrella, I had better be hopping back."

"Oh please stay a little while longer," begged Mr. Twistytail, for he was lonesome. "If it rains I'll lend you an umbrella.

So Uncle Wiggily stayed visiting a little longer. But the thunder became louder, rumbling and grumbling.

"I had better hop along now," said the rabbit gentleman after a while, looking around as the lightning flashed. "If I hurry I may get to my bungalow before the storm comes."

"Well, take this, anyhow," said Mr. Twistytail, and he reached in a corner and handed something to the rabbit.

"What's this—an umbrella?" asked the bunny.

"Sort of, though I call it a funnybrella," laughed the pig gentleman.

"Funnybrella? What do you mean?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"You'll see when you open it," chuckled Mr. Twistytail. "But if it doesn't rain you won't have to open it. Hop along and good luck to you, Uncle Wiggily."

"Thank you! I wish you the same," said the bunny, and away he hopped over the fields and through the woods. All the while the lightning was flashing and the thunder rumbling, though, as yet, it had not rained.

Uncle Wiggily was half way to his hollow stump bungalow when, all of a sudden, out from behind a big rock stepped the Woozie Wolf.

"Oh!" exclaimed the bunny.

"Oh!" laughed the Wolf. "I think I'll walk with you, Uncle Wiggily. I see you have an umbrella, and it will keep me dry."

The bunny rabbit didn't know what to say as the Wolf walked along with him. Then, all of a sudden, it began to rain.

"Hoist the umbrella and keep me dry!" growled the Wolf.

The bunny rabbit raised the umbrella and, as he did so, he saw that one-half the cloth was gone from the ribs. It was really only half an umbrella.

"No wonder Mr. Twistytail called it a funnybrella," thought the bunny. "Perhaps he knew I would meet the Wolf and could play a trick on him with the funnybrella. I'll do it!"

Uncle Wiggily held the good

The rain came down.

part of the umbrella over himself, and the part with the hole in it over the Wolf. And of course the rain came down on the Wolf, wetting him through and through.

"Hey! Something is the matter!" howled the Wolf, never looking up, however. "The rain is coming through your umbrella. This is no place for me. I'll stand under a tree until the rain stops. I never saw such an umbrella!"

"'Tisn't an umbrella—it's a FUNNYBRELLA!" laughed the rabbit. "And I'm glad it is!" Then he hopped safely home, leaving the Wolf under the tree, and the rabbit, under the good half of the umbrella, didn't get wet at all.

So this teaches us that half a loaf of bread is better than no pie at all. And if the fire engine doesn't get its wheels wet when it squirts water on the flower bed, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the feather game.

THE BACKING LIGHT

Considering the frequency with which cars are damaged by backing into trees, poles and other cars, when being maneuvered at night, it is rather singular that no more lighting equipments include a lamp so placed as to cast its light directly behind, particularly on the driver's side, and thus to illuminate the road, define the curb line and bring dangerous obstructions into view. Such a backing lamp has occasionally been included in the lighting systems of past models of cars and is regular equipment upon the current model of one well-known factory. In this instance, a special switch, automatically closed only when the gear-shift is in reverse position, and in series with the general lighting switch, acts to light this lamp, which is combined in the tail lamp assembly, just as are traffic signal lamps. Occasionally one sees a car which the owner has himself equipped with a backing lamp, which in some instances is a small spot light, mounted on a rear-located bracket and controlled by a cowl-board switch. It is by no means a difficult matter to make such an installation as this and it certainly conduces toward safety. Anyone who has had to back out of a narrow country road, for a half mile or so, on a pitchy black night, will vividly remember how he yearned for rear illumination.

Switch Contacts Need Attention

W. E. writes: My car has a combination switch, with one lever for the ignition and the other for the lights. Lately the ignition lever has begun to work hard and stick, so that I can hardly move it and there is a grinding sensation when it is moved. Will this cause trouble and make a new switch necessary?

Answer: The contacts of your switch have become dry from long service and they have begun to cut one another. If neglected this trouble will increase, metal dust will be formed inside the switch and a shortcircuit will most likely be caused. You had better disconnect the switch from the cowl board, remove its cover to expose the contacts and apply a little vaseline to them with the fingers, until they operate smoothly and easily. If you have to detach any wires, tag them so that you can replace them in the right binding screws.

Badly Assorted Lamp Bulbs

S. A. T. writes: The bulb in one of my headlamps is very much dimmer than the other, although they are both new and there seems to be no trouble in the wiring or the sockets. They are both 21 c. p., 6-8 volt bulbs. Why should there be this difference?

Answer: If you interchange these bulbs in their sockets and find that the one that now burns dimly still does so, you can be sure that the difference is in the bulbs. Even among new bulbs, there is occasionally found one that is not correcly assorted, but requires either a higher or a lower voltage than that marked upon it to cause it to burn normally. Bulbs are also sometimes met with which are defective and blacken or drop in candle power almost as soon as put into service. You may as well replace the dim lamp with a new one of the same type and make as the bright one.

Radiator Boils Persistently

T. M. J. writes: Of late, the radiator of my car steams heavily, whenever I drive at more than 15 m. p. h. I have cleaned out the carbon, ground the valves, removed the thermostat from the system, tested the pump (which seemed to be working), set the mixture somewhat leaner but not too lean, put in new rubber hose connections, cleaned out the radiator with soda solution and had the distributor repaired and the spark-timing verified. Still the water boils away very rapidly, if I drive at all fast. What more can I do to stop this boiling?

Answer: You say nothing about the fan, although you may have tested it. Are you sure that its belt is tight enough so that it runs with proportionally increased speed, as the engine speeds up and thus gives its expected cooling effect on the hot water in the radiator? Unless the belt is tight enough so that a perceptible force is required to rotate the fan, when the engine is stopped, fan action is not likely to be sufficient at high engine speeds. Are you certain that the pump is working positively? You better test it by removing the upper water connection at the radiator and see if a full stream of water is thrown from it when the engine is speeded up.

Billy Whiskers

by FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Billy and Nannie had walked miles and miles through the grounds of the exposition, going in this building and out that, looking at things which did not interest them in the least, like machinery, vehicles of all kinds, dress goods and so forth, when at last they reached the Court of Abundance, on one side of which was one of the most artistic and beautiful towers on the grounds, and in front of it was a deep fountain basin.

"Oh, my! Billy, do let's stop here and rest and watch the lovely reflections in the water. It looks so cool and refreshing. It seems to me I would give just anything I had in the world for one dip in its cool waters."

You would? Well, there is nothing to prevent your having your wish without giving anything to get it, as far as I can see," replied Billy.

"Why, Billy Whiskers, how you talk! As if I would dare to jump into that fountain. The crowd would throw stones at me and the police would club me to death in about ten minutes!"

"There you go again, giving up things just because you are afraid of people and the police! 'Nothing ventured, nothing gained' is one of my mottoes. That water looks pretty good to me, too, since you spoke of it. And I for one am going to have a swim in it and feel the water running over my hot, tired back. It will be just glorious and do us both good."

"Billy! You aren't going to do it? You are just joking, aren't you?"

"Indeed I am not? See, there are only a few people around at this time of day, and I don't see a single guard in sight. We can jump in and have a swim before they even notice we are taking a bath. My, but it will feel good! I can just feel the cool water running through and under my long hair. Don't be a 'fraidy cat,' but come on. 'One for the money, two for the show, and three to make ready, and four to go,'" and with that Billy sprang over the brim of the fountain and into the water. He landed with a splash, but no one happened to see him but a few little birds that were bathing there also.

"Come on in, Nan. The wate's fine. Isn't a bit cold! It is just to your taste for drinking and bathing."

(Do you suppose Nannie did as Billy said and had a bath in the fountain?)

Poems That Live

WHAT GUILE IS THIS?

What guile is this, that those her golden tresses
She doth attire under a net of gold;
And with sly skill so cunningly them dresses,
That which is gold or hair may scarce be told?
Is it that men's frail eyes, which are too bold,
She may entangle in that golden snare,
And, being caught, may craftily enfold
Their weaker hearts, which are not well aware?
Take heed, therefore, mine eyes, how ye do stare
Henceforth too rashly on that guileful net,
In which, if ever ye entrapped are,
Out of her bands ye by no means shall get.
Fondness it were for any, being free,
To cover fetters, though they golden be.

—Edmund Spenser.

SUNSHINE PELLETS

BY DR. W. F. THOMSON

When a doctor watches a growth, to see whether or not it is cancer, he's a darn poor doctor.

Lan' Sakes! Man, Alive!
If you're well at twenty-five,
There's no tellin' what you'll be
When you reach, say, sixty-three.

A quack and his quackery are soon found out, but there's always good picking in new pastures.

In tropical and semi-tropical countries, a man is convicted of having malaria until nature proves it's something else.

It makes no diff'rence what they preach,
Take two capsules, ten grains each;
"Skeeter" fever, quinine cures—
Taken this way, it will yours.

Some folks mistake the enforcement of a series of "Don't" for education.

If you want smallpox, that's your business; if you get it and it gets you, that's bad business.

"A touch of malaria" is always a good excuse for a bad breakfast.

When one studies sanitation he ceases to be sentimental about the "old swimmin' hole."

The Sheriff and the Girl

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

With his pistol drawn the weary man walked through the woods, eyes and ears alert. There was nothing of the furtive about him; rather a determination, the fixed purpose of the hunter, Frank Waller, sheriff, was looking for his man.

He had figured it out that the man who robbed the stage so many times had his hiding place back in this tangle of brush and rocks. Giving it out in town that he was to ride with the stage as guard, he had slipped away to test his theory. Now he was tired and knew the task was difficult.

No one had knowingly looked upon the face of the stage robber, and the descriptions given by frightened drivers and passengers were widely different.

In a small clearing the sheriff saw a battered cabin, door swinging open in the breeze. He looked in the window, saw that the single room was empty, and entered. There was little in the place to indicate a home, and yet a man had been there. In the corner was a ladder to a room above. Waller climbed up. Here was a mirror and some hairpins and a single cot. The sheriff was tired and the cot was inviting. Resolved that he would not fall asleep, he stretched out.

A sharp noise awakened him and he sat up in the dark. Someone had struck a match! Now the lamp was lighted. Waller put his eye to a crack in the floor and caught his breath. The Ives girl, Mildred Ives, strange, shy creature he had seen occasionally purchasing supplies in town, was there with her father, the half-wit men called "Pizen Ivy."

"You're going with me this time." The father's voice was low and steady, quite unlike the hesitating drawl that was his in town. "You won't have to take part, but you'll have to be near. I'm not going to risk your tipping it off."

Sheriff Waller edged toward the ladder. This "Pizen Ivy" was the stage robber. Wonder he had not thought of this before. The man was a consummate actor. The voice rose again.

"Yes, and it's because that smart sheriff is along that I'm afraid you'll tell. This time I get the money and the sheriff." He turned to her, threatening. "Now go on upstairs, put on your men's togs and tie on your handkerchief. Hurry! I'll be waiting outside."

The girl climbed up and paused, white-faced and terrified, as she looked into the face of Waller.

"Hurry, come on," he whispered.

A little later the figure of a man descended the stairs, a handkerchief about his face. Old Ives waited outside, turned at the sight of the other's form and, with a motion to follow, struck off. In silence they walked down the slope toward the road. The pace was brisk. "Pizen Ivy" was going to meet the stage.

Only a minute they waited, then the elder man grunted.

"You stand there and don't move. When it's over I'll bring you your pretty sheriff." The light of the stage was on the road and the sound of hoofs was heard. The robber stepped to the middle of the road, his hand on the revolver at his hip. Foolhardy as it was, it was typical of a man who had asked no odds.

Ives started to draw the pistol. He would grab a bridle now, duck behind a horse's head and give his orders. Something poked him in the side. This daughter of his—?

"Put 'em up, Pizen. The man poked the pistol in the robber's ribs.

The stage pulled up and a circle formed around the two. Then the bewildered and cowed Ives saw in the lantern light that his captor was Waller. He glared sullenly, then tried to smile.

"I was goin' to take you back to the girl," he said. "She's been moosin' 'bout you some. Say, she didn't tip you off, did she?"

How had it happened? Where was the girl;

The stage, carrying the robber, deputy and the others, went on to town leaving the sheriff standing in the road. It would be a long walk back, but he'd have to get the girl. She touched him on the arm.

"Of course, I followed," she said. Waller saw the rifle on her arm.

"You could have plugged me and saved him."

"It wasn't to save him I brought it. He said he was going to get you!"

It was then that the moon rose over the hill and the two walked into town, a grieving girl released at last from a terrible bondage and a silent sheriff who had discovered he was in love.

PRESENTING THE CAPE QUESTION

Early autumn has its first say in hats, then in wraps, and a word on both subjects is expressed here, with supplementary remarks regarding a straightline frock of plain and figured roshanara crepe. The cape is trimmed with wide bands of self material, and is slashed to slip the arm through. The neck is gathered to a wide straight collar. Poiret twill, fashona, marvella, velvet or broadcloth may be used to develop the cape. Medium size requires 4¾ yards of 54-inch material, and 3 yards of 40-inch crepe for lining.

Pictorial Review Cape No. 1744. Sizes, 34 to 46 inches bust. Price, 35c. Dress No. 1697. Sizes 34 to 48 inches bust. Price, 35c.

FROCK OF FLAT CREPE

The large collar, which must be reckoned with in the treatment of the necklines of new frocks, rings true to form by emphasizing variety. Here it appears in round outline on a frock of cinnamon-brown flat crepe. It is made of silk lace dyed to match the crepe. The dress closes on the shoulder, and features plaits as well as the large two-piece collar in its trimming. Medium size requires 5⅛ yards of 36-inch material.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1739, Sizes 16 to 20 years and 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 45c.

Beauty Chats

by Edna Kent Forbes

ANSWERED LETTERS

V. R. A.:—Witch hazel, or any good toilet water, will serve as an astringent for a sensitive skin inclined to coarse pores.

Maria:—A girl of 16 years who is in good health will not have any lines in her face that will be disfiguring.

A Friend:—The shape of the nose may be changed through plastic surgery.

Rosy Cheeks: — Cucumber juice makes a handy bleach for the skin at this season of the year. A coat of tan is nature's protection from injury through too much exposure to the sun. For the same reason the skin will bleach without any help if there is no more exposure.

Ethel L.:—There could be no accurate measurements given for the proportions of a girl of 15 years of age, as she is still growing. Many children grow unevenly and then catch up later; thus they attain their correct proportions only when they reach maturity.

Mickey:—Sage tea merely colors gray hair to a shade something like tan. It is also supposed to be a mild tonic for the scalp.

Lemon juice will remove fruit stains from the hands. Take up some form of athletics in which you exercise the lower part of the body; or diet until you bring down your entire weight to normal, when the legs will not be so stout.

Billy Boy—In most cases a red nose comes from a poor digestion and a clogged system. Drink plenty of water and regulate your diet so your condition is improved. It is then most likely the red nose will disappear.

I. W. E. R.—At 17 years of age, with a height of five feet five inches, your weight should be about 125 pounds. If you reduce to this weight the thickness through the shoulders will disappear. Use a mild soap like Castile and wash the face instead of using cleansing creams.

Bobby B.—The mixture of ammonia and peroxide is a strong bleach that is sometimes used on superflous hair, but there is no certainty that it will weaken the hair at the roots.

Mrs. C.—Hot water used alone would not cleanse the skin as the action would merely be to open the pores. Cleansing creams will not cause hair to grow. They are only used to dissolve the soil in the skin.

The time to use hot water is after cream applications, but it should always be followed by rinsing the face with cool water, with a final rinse of very cold water or an ice rub.

A complexion on which only hot water, or only cleasing cream was used, would become very coarse unless the pores were closed by the cold water treatment. Cleansing cream will not serve as a complete substitute for washing the face with soap and water, although there had better be no soap unless it is made of fine oils, preferably olive oil.

Mrs. W. M.: "I recently saw in your column a 'hint' about removing chewing gum from clothing. I too have been annoyed by bum stuck to clothes, dishes and furniure, but have found that kerosene oil, applied with a small piece of cloth, is more effective than the ice which your column advised. Kerosene is also fine to use if one gets flypaper stuck to anything."

Answer: I think we have the nicest set of readers that any column could possibly have. For busy housekeepers are continually taking the trouble to write in about things they have found helpful. I am sure we all thank you for this kerosene hint.

Mrs. A. M. B.: "I have been greatly interested in Efficient Housekeeping and I feel impelled to answer one of the questions recently published, from a reader: 'How can one use the yolks of eggs without the whites?' Here is my way of using egg yolks alone: Break them into a pan of cold water that can be put on the top of the stove; bring the water in the pan gradually to the boiling heat. Boil twenty minutes. These perfect little balls are not only fine for garnishing, but invalids can digest them when they cannot take the yolks raw. If the yolk is broken before cooking it cannot be used in this way:

Answer: I must say, again, that I think we have very helpful housekeepers reading our column.

Miss M. F. P. C.: "Will you please name a few articles that would be appropriate to give in celebration of a cotton wedding (the first anniversary)?"

Answer: A small sewing basket filled with spools of thread; an apron; a dust cap; any article made of flowered cretonne—such as a bag, a sofa cushion or a covered dress hanger; a braided rag rug; an unbleached muslin table runner, luncheon set, or bureau scarf (perhaps stenciled, perhaps worked all around with a simple scalloping, or finished with narrow bands stitched on).

If the friend is very dear to you and you wish to give her an especially big present, why not work her one of the popular unbleached muslin bedspreads, using heavy white cotton in a design made entirely of large French knots?

Mother of Five: "I have heard of some sort of new sweater hanger, made of an embroidery hoop in some way. Can you describe it?"

Answer: Yes, and they are splendid for those new sweaters which are so loosely knit that they stretch if hung from the shoulders. To make it, wind an oval embroidery hoop with a strip of cretonne, sew a little tab of cretonne on one side (put an ivory ring at top of this tab, to hook over a nail), and lay the sweater through the hoop.

Tomorrow—Pickles and Relishes to Serve With Cold Meats.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

IF I WERE A MANUFACTURER

If I were a manufacturer (and among the various activities including circus rider, teacher, moving picture director, and saleswoman, that I'd like to have a separate lifetime to try out, is that of business man) there is one thing I would be very careful about.

I should be careful that the name I gave my product was one about the pronunciation of which there would be no difficulty and no question.

How Do You Pronounce It?

A little boy asked me the other day how I pronounced the name of a certain much advertised automobile oil. I gave my pronunciation. Then he gave the one he thought was right, and what the small boy next door thought was right. They were all different, and all possible and plausible, as the name is made up from the first letters of the name of the company and its native state.

If I were that company I should inaugurate some advertising that would give a universal pronunciation for that name so that there would be no more questions.

Of course someone might say that to get people talking about it is good advertising, but I have never believed that old saw that any advertising is good advertising. There is nothing the average person hates more than to be caught in a mispronunciation. If he is uncertain of the pronunciation of a word in conversation he will use some synonym rather than risk a mistake. Surely that fact is a danger signal.

Afraid Of a Mistake

There is a manufacturer of toilet powder who has found it wise to place the pronunciation of the French name of his powder in parenthesis after the name wherever it appears. He discovered that people were not asking for the powder, not because they did not like it, but because they were not sure how to pronounce the name.

And you've heard the old story of the man who went into a saloon and said: "Give me a pousse cafe." "What?" asked the bartender. "A pousse cafe," repeated the customer. The bartender again showed he did not understand the attempted French pronunciation and the now thoroughly embarrassed man said hastily: "Oh, give me a beer."

Try It On Your Tongue

Another thing I have often said is that if I were making up a name for anything that was a luxury and had to appeal to the esthetic sense I should be sure there were plenty of L's and R's in the name, so that I might create a word of esthetic appeal. Do you remember the Frenchman who said: "You have so many beautiful words in your language," and when asked to cite some of them gave the word "cellar door."

And I have also said that if it were something of a more practical nature I should see to it that the word have B's or K's or D's or T's in it, as I think people like to say those words. I had that idea corroborated from a most unexpected source. And, since it was an unsophisticated one, that much the more authentic.

I joined my small friends of the neighborhood the other night in a game of hide-and-seek. We discussed which formula to use for counting out and my small niece voted for the one beginning "Ibbetty, bibbetty, sibbetty sac."

"I love to say those words," she explained her choice.

Tomorrow—The "Eh" Habit

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

Convulsions

Because the nervous system is very responsive and delicately attuned in childhood, convulsions—a manifestation of a disturbance of the nervous system—are much more common in childhood than they are later in life. There are many causes of convulsions in children, the most frequent being an irritation of the stomach or intestines caused by the eating of improper things.

There is nothing that strikes so much terror to the entire household as convulsions. While they may be due to a very simple cause, a skilled physician should be called to be sure that they are not from a more serious cause, and to give the treatment that will prevent further attacks.

For the attack, mothers, you can give a hot mustard bath—one tablespoonful of mustard to a gallon of water, as hot as you can put your elbow into comfortably. Place a small towel dipped in cold water or an ice bag on the head. A mustard pack may be more convenient to give, using some large towels wrung out of the mustard water and wrapping the child in these. Leave on until the skin is reddened well.

As soon as possible give the child an enema with warm soap suds. You may find this to bring surprising things. One little girl I treated was harboring over a cup of watermelon seeds.

Nothing should be given but water for four or five hours, then cereal gruels or boiled milk and water or fruit juices for twenty-four hours. Gradually increase the diet to normal.

Asthma

Asthma is sometimes due to dietetic errors. It has been proved in certain cases of asthma of children that they were consuming excessive amounts of milk, eggs and oatmeal, and thereby getting too much protein in their diets. In these cases, cutting down the excess milk so that not more than a pint was taken and omitting the white of the eggs, resulted in freedom from asthma. Of course, other hygienic measures—fresh air night and day, correction of faulty postures and a correct diet in all respects—were part of the treatment.

Asthma in children and adults is sometimes due to the absorption of some of the invisible protein which will be inhaled from the dandruff of dogs and cats, rabbits and horses. Felt hats which have rabbit fur in their makeup (and this is frequent) will cause asthma in susceptible people. Sometimes mattresses have rabbit fur in them and they cannot be used. Feather pillows are sometimes the offenders.

You remember I told you when I discussed eczema that this might also be a form of protein poisoning. We often find that children with eczema later have asthma. Sometimes in cases of asthma it may be necessary to do as in eczema—find out which protein is the offending one by the laboratory tests.

Better have an X-ray picture taken of the chest also. An enlarged thymus gland (a gland in the chest, over the windpipe, in babyhood and early childhood) may be the cause of asthma. Or the X-ray may show that the child's lung is serving as a pin-cushion!

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

ANGEL LUIS PUT ON FRYING PAN

Argentine's Training Criticized as Date for Bout With Dempsey Nears

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—At the risk of being discourteous to a prominent and wealthy guest, the writer feels it incumbent to suggest at this moment that Luis Angel Firpo is making no serious attempt to prepare himself for his impending fight with Jack Dempsey. It lacks just eighteen days of the time when Firpo will be asked to face the crisis of his fistic career.

Eighteen days of preparation were not considered enough for Dempsey, the champion. They are hardly enough for Firpo, the challenger.

Yet the latter has not deemed it necessary to settle down to the business of real training, according to advices from Atlantic City. His policy indicates either super-confidence or super-ignorance, and they are equally fatuous.

Carpentier put in two months of intensive training in an effort to gauge the distance to the ring floor. Gibbons and Dempsey were working for the Shelby affair six weeks before its scheduled date. Willard and Dempsey were at Toledo many weeks before their fight. Jeffries and Johnson trained for their Reno meeting for months.

Firpo went to Atlantic City about three weeks in advance of the Dempsey bout. As yet he hardly can be said to have improved each shining hour. Brief workouts with three sparring partners of the flat-wheel variety have been the order.

Another element in the Latin's so-called preparation is known as Angel Horatio Lavell. He is Firpo's new trainer by proxy, the actual conditioning being directed by Felix Runge, who remains in Buenos Aires, therefore is in a tactful position to know how much actual work Firpo may need each day, the actual stage of Firpo's development since returning to America, and everything.

Dempsey Fishing For Four Days

Aug. 28.—The sparring partners of Jack Dempsey have earned a of Jack Dempsey today earned a respite from the heavy battering of the champion in training practice. The titleholder announced he would lay off training until Thursday, spending the vacation fishing in one of the numerous lakes in the Adirondacks.

By Thursday, the champion expects to have additional sparring mates to assist George Godfrey and Jack Burke, who have borne the brunt of rounding him into condition. Dempsey plans two final weeks of conditioning which will make him fit for Luis Firpo in their fight September 14.

Dempsey is now down around 194. He expects to enter the ring weighing around 188 pounds.

TAGGING ALL BASES

The Giants laid coarse rough hands on the pitching of Osborne and Cheevis in the sixth, a seven-run rally, giving the champions an 8 to 4 decision over the Cubs.

Thanks to the philanthropic tendencies of Zaniser, who walked seven, the Tigers made it three straight over the Senators by winning, 9 to 6.

The Cardinals made twenty base base hits, but finished second to the Phillies, 12 to 11, in an 11-inning game. Cy Williams made his thirty-third homer of the season, passing Babe Ruth in the inter-league race.

The Reds and the Braves divided a double-header, Cincinnati winning the opener, 8 to 2, but losing the second, 7 to 0, thanks to errors and Barnes' pitching.

Shawkey turned the Indians back in the final game of the western invasion, the Yankees winning, 10 to 3.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Philadelphia—Eddie "Kid" Wagner, Philadelphia, was awarded the unofficial decision over Johnny Dundee, New York, 8 rounds; Harry (Kid) Brown, Philadelphia, got the unofficial decision over Jack Darcy, New Cork, 8 rounds.

At Brooklyn—Dave Rosenberg, Brooklyn, knocked out Billy Naylor, Brooklyn, fourth round.

At Buffalo—Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, knocked out Wally Hinckle of Philadelphia in the third round; Alex Gibbons, Jamestown, defeated Chief Halftown of Jamestown, in six rounds; Mickey Dillon, Erie, Pa., got decision over Fred Thompson of Geneva, six rounds.

JOHN HACKENSCHMIDT TO WRESTLE 'BULL MONTANA' IN GLENDALE

"Bull Montana," who "rassels" with John Hackenschmidt Labor Day night under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion, is one of the most picturesque figures in Hollywood's moving picture colony.

Although few of his many friends know it, "The Bool" was christened Luigi Montagni. He was born in the village of Vorghera in the province of Pavia, Italy, May 16, 1888 and is now slightly over 35 years of age.

"Hack" is a much younger man and Glendale fans are confident the scion of the house of Hackenschmidt will be able to throw "the Bull." Several fast boxing bouts also are on the program.

THE CHAMP AND 'BOOL'

"Bull Montana" and Jack Dempsey are close friends, as pictured here, and while the latter will be fighting Firpo in the east, "the Bool" will be wrestling John Hackenschmidt in the Legion card in Glendale on Labor Day, it is announced

The WORLD OVER By FRANKLIN B. MORSE. PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The spontaneous cancellation of all sporting events slated for the day of the funeral of the late President of the United States was a tribute that few men are accorded for the reason that it was done without any preconcerted action. No word was sent the rounds but all hands acted, individually, in concert.

The warring factions in the Pacific coast league seemingly are going to let their differences lie in abeyance until the close of the playing season. Of course, it is a selfish motive, the desire for the gate receipts being paramount to the gall and bitterness. The fans profit by this as well, for they are at least enabled to enjoy their games without being harassed by the airing of personal and factional grudge. However, it is almost certain that with the close of play there will be a lot of dirty work aired that is not going to do baseball in general and the coast league in particular any good. Just what is going to happen no one seems to have any clear idea.

There are many who know the wily James W. Coffroth, former prominent fight promoter of San Francisco and now president of the Tijuana race track, who believe that he is quietly angling to stage the Dempsey-Wills battle and, for that reason, is keeping hands off the Dempsey-Firpo proposition. Coffroth is one of those who believes that the fighting followers prefer a battle between Dempsey and the negro than the one against Firpo. Of course, should Firpo knock out Dempsey, which few anticipate, Dempsey would be eliminated and it would then be a Firpo-Wills fight that Coffroth would turn his attention to.

Whether or not the Tijuana race track would be the scene of the fight if Coffroth should get it is another matter. Coffroth, in the past, has not seemed to consider his track just the suitable place for a big fight, but he may have had some ulterior motive for letting this idea get abroad. Coffroth is a canny chap and he seldom makes a move that does not have some meaning and reason.

Now that Henry Sullivan has been the third man to achieve the English Channel swim, there are a host of other aspirants for the honor. After enough men have negotiated the distance, interest in the feat will come to an end. Just look at the "hole in one" golfers. We can read of this feat today without getting unduly excited over a stunt that has been done hundreds of times.

Granting that a sound defense doesn't win ball games, merely saves them, it is nevertheless a fact to dally with that the New York Giants had played thirty-nine errorless games, no less, up to and including August 13. At that moment the club was seven and one-half games in front of the second runner, and some were pleased to observe that hitting was the answer, since it is no Masonic secret that Giant pitching is a very sad affair, indeed.

However, it was simply a case of the punch in the batting order scoring enough runs to win games and the infield and outfield defense preventing the pitchers from being score upon often enough to lose something already won. The defense, in brief, had its moments.

Better still, many of them came in big series. The Pirates and the Reds happen to be the Giants' most likely rivals, if any. Facing this pair at odd moments during the campaign, the Giants turned in sixteen errorless games, nine against the Pirates and seven at the expense of the Reds. That kind of fielding would make any spavined staff look like a hot tip.

Incidentally, the McGraw entry has been more or less impartial about the business, every club in the league having been favored with a perfect performance at one time or another. The funny Phils are among the chief mourners. They have watched the Giants play seven errorless games this season, while the Dodgers and the Braves, favorites of fate, have witnessed only two.

Twice in recent months have the champions played four successive errorless games. Twice have they played errorless double headers. Can you beat it? Not with a horsewhip.

SPORTS CHATTER By BILL UNMACK PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Ever since golf has been played in this country and ever since a pride has been taken in the beauty and the faultlessness of golf courses, one of the main problems has been to find a grass that would stand up under the constant strain of being trodden down by scores of players every day.

Every greens committee has this as an ever present riddle to be solved and there has been a lot of "laboratory" work in which the blending of various grass seeds has been made to effect a hardy growth.

On the new links of the Olympic club country club annex in San Francisco they have hit upon "Creeping bent" as the solution of their troubles. A veteran California golfer says: "In a very short time all golfers will be talking of Creeping bent for this grass seems to have solved at least half the problems that have baffled greenskeepers in northern California for many years."

"Creeping bent" is the pride and joy of Sam Whiting, the Olympic club professional. Its scientific name is agrostis stolenifara. The fairways are sowed to fescue, but it would seem that some day entire courses will consist of creeping bent for the rapidity of its growth and its prolific nature apparently know no bounds. On one fairway, where fescues were not sown, creeping bent runners, simply the cuttings from a mown green, were scattered, and in two weeks the ground was well covered with green. There are but two requisites for this most fertile propagation—a fair soil and plenty of water.

We are glad to pass this on, for it will be of interest to the officials of golf clubs the whole country over. Apparently this grass could be grown successfully anywhere in the country and many a greenskeeper at the end of his patience and experiments may hail this as a bright light in the enveloping gloom.

Even though it may be worn out by constant wear, the fact seems to be that it is a wonderful grass to restore itself quickly which is one of the most necessary essentials. It would be hard to find a grass that will not wear away, but it has been equally difficult to find a grass that did not require a long time and infinite pains to restore over the scars and scabs made by the feet of the players.

FIRPO HAS PUNCH ENOUGH FOR BETS

Public Opinion Differs as to Possibilities of South American Boxer

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Intermittent betting on the outcome of the Dempsey-Firpo business makes the champion favorite at uncommonly short odds ranging from six to one to three to one. These are remarkable for the fact that they represent a sharp variance between public and expert opinion. One doubts if sports writers would care for any part of Firpo at five to one. The public, seemingly, is pleased to think otherwise.

W. L. Darnell & Co., Broad street betting commissioners, have announced placing $2000 on the Latin against $5000 worth of Dempsey money. Smaller transactions at odds of two to one have been placed, also, the firm announced.

The same source of information is authority for the statement that it holds $5000 to be placed on Dempsey against $2500, and that Firpo men have tossed a matter of $3000 into the pot to be held until the odds reach ten to three.

Public Differs

All of which goes to prove that the punch is mightier than the typewriter. With a rattle of keys, expert opinion can prove in a very few moments that the Argentine maneater has no more chance than a bedtime story at a smoker, and will prove that he does everything wrong, from the system he follows in training on down to his taste in neckties. Public opinion merely replies that it is good business to shoot one dollar against two or three that a puncher who goes in there swinging will win.

There seems to be something about Firpo that causes people to accept him as a possible conqueror of all mankind. Women, in particular, are convinced that he will win. They can advance no plausible reason for the opinion, but appear to regard him as a man of destiny, or some such.

Norman McMillan is playing a wonderful game at shortstop for the Red Sox, despite a bad hand. Johnny Mitchell is going to have a difficult task to replace McMillan when considered fit to play again.

Cavaney of the Cinci Reds was a poor hitter last season. This year he is among the .300 batters.

A shortstop and second baseman and some pitchers are the need of the Braves at present. There are many other needs for the future.

First ball hitting has been practiced very frequently by the Cinci Reds this season and many a game has been salted away before the system was discovered.

Criqui Lauds Dundee On Return to France

PARIS, Aug. 28. — "Johnny Dundee is the best boxer I ever saw. He will hold his own with Benny Leonard when they meet September 5."

It was Eugene Criqui, poilu of Verdun, speaking, just back from a disastrous and at the same time triumphal trip to America.

The French featherweight would not say that Dundee will defeat Leonard, but he looks for the "Scotch wop" to give a good account of himself. Criqui, a keen student of boxing, regards Dundee as supreme among the featherweights.

"He has promised me a return bout and I still have high hopes of eventual success," is Criqui's only reservations to Dundee's greatness.

An eel that weighed nine pounds was caught in a water main of a French town recently and cut off the supply of drinking water for four days.

A Greater Glendale Is Dependent On Community Co-operation

The up-to-dale merchant is ambitious for all the business he can get honestly and hold fairly. You may say that personal gain is his only incentive and ideal. And yet the merchant who is ambitious for himself is also ambitious for his community, for there is no honor or profit in having an up-to-date store in an unprogressive town. So the business or professional man who is anxious for your patronage is usually a good citizen for it is to his interest to work for the good of the community.

The man who is out for more business helps his community in another way. He is constantly working to improve his store and his service and in this way he helps to build up a fine commercial center which is an essential feature in a home community like Glendale. A fine business center attracts new residents and new residents mean increased trade for wide-awake merchants. So the rule works both ways. Ambitious merchants help to develop a community and a growing community brings more business to the home merchant.

But in no stage of its development can his business live or increase without patrons and it is to the home people he looks for patronage. So he tells them through the home paper of his stock and his prices and his service.

Merchants who advertise are ambitious for more business. They want to stand high in their particular callings. They are working for a Greater Glendale because, for one reason, a Greater Glendale means a larger business outlook and more business opportunities.

It is the buyer who looks below the surface who realizes that trading in Glendale means something more than doing a favor for the particular merchant who receives his money. It is a question of Community Loyalty and Community Growth.

The men and women represented on this page are ambitious both for themselves and for Glendale. Your co-operation with them will mean a Greater Glendale.

LOS ANGELES FED UP ON ANNEXING

Taxation Without Representation Gives Outlying Districts Reason to Howl

ing these days. They are too busy receiving committees of complainants from Hollywood and Van Nuys and Sawtelle and Owensmouth and the Harbor.

No sooner does one delegation enter the sanctum at the city hall than another is waiting at the door. The line just moves up one, like a run on a bank! And when the committee has had its say and been ushered unctuously out the rear door—it is met by a relay that takes its place and dashes around to the end of the line again. It is the spoilers' picnic.

It is a merry-go-round, constantly in motion. And it is wearing—on, quite wearing!—on the municipal patience. In fact, those who are familiar with the goings on within the "charmed circle" are frank to say that Los Angeles is fed up on annexing. It has had too many bananas!

The Los Angeles City Council is not at all anxious to annex the bunch of other communities clamoring outside the municipal gates for entrance. Not until she gets a new charter, at least. No, sir! She has learned that "taxation without representation" is, to use a well-worn but effective piece of colloquialism, "the bunk." Because it is a double-edged sword, as keen one way as another.

So it is that Glendale should be satisfied to remain without the gates, at least until Los Angeles has had a chance to take a hitch in her belt, if we may refer to the Lady of the Angels in such a crude manner.

Perhaps the new charter, now being formulated, will include borough form of government which may be adaptable. But it is a safe guess that division of Los Angeles county into a rural and metropolitan area will be work of some future legislature and at that time Glendale may go into the greater city and county. Which solution should appease the desire of any who insist on consolidation.

May we not say, "Yes, we have no annexationists," with due reverence to Los Angeles, and great pride in Glendale's achievements?

Glendale Missionary To China Passes Away

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bacon of 900 South Glendale avenue, received a cablegram on Saturday from their son, W. R. Bacon, who is a missionary at Nantungchow, China, bringing the sad news of Mrs. Bacon's death on Friday, August 24, 1923.

Mr. and Mrs. Bacon have been working in the mission fields in China for the past four years. The deceased leaves, besides Mr. Bacon, an infant daughter. Last November their daughter Lillian, aged 13, passed away.

At the present time Mr. and Mrs. Bacon have not received word from their son relative to his future plans.

Merchants Talk Bus Service and Parking completed their business, and could then, it was suggested, park them at some point where they would not be liable to cause other drivers to violate the law, whether wittingly or otherwise.

A committee consisting of F. C. Butler, William Hunter and Albert Cornwell was appointed to investigate the matter and to report at next week's meeting, taking the subject up with the committee that is acting for the Chamber of Commerce.

GERMAN INVENTION

A German has invented a machine to weld the bottoms on iron casks quickly.

Don't wrap ICE in Newspapers!

To get the greatest benefit from the ice in your refrigerator there must be a free circulation of air around it. You defeat this purpose when you wrap the ice in newspaper or sacks.

It is the constant circulation of cold air, from the ice chamber through the food compartments, that keeps your food pure, fresh and wholesome, and prevents germ growth.

Properly used, ice is a real economy in the saving of food, and the best health insurance you can have at all times of the year.

EAGLE ROCK

IMPROVEMENT OF STREET DELAYED

Petition to Pave Ellenwood Drive Must Give Way To Sewer Work

A petition asking that Ellenwood drive be improved is being circulated among property owners and others interested. The petitioners ask curbing and sidewalks as well as paving.

Donnell G. Montgomery, secretary of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce, has been advised by Mr. True of the street department that the full quota of engineers is working on sewer plans for Eagle Rock and that this petition will have to be laid on the table, for the time being, as no engineer can be spared to go into street improvement plans.

"This news that Eagle Rock sewers are about to materialize is gratifying to the community at large," says Mr. Montgomery, "even though it means that certain other needed improvements must be delayed. Unfortunately, we can't have everything we want all at once—but think what it will mean to this community to have a sewer system!"

It is understood that the system will be fully installed and functioning within a year.

Secretary Honored

Donnell G. Montgomery, secretary of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce, has as a member of the Los Angeles Planning Commission been appointed to serve on two important committees—the map committee and the subdivision committee.

As the Eagle Rock maps are not yet complete, Mr. Montgomery has no report to make of his work on the former committee. On the subdivision committee, however, he states that the regional and the Los Angeles planning commissions are working together and have at the present time a plan of streets and highways for the entire county, partially finished.

Local Notes

Ralph S. Bourne, of 228 North Sierra Vista avenue, claims the questionable honor of being the first resident of the community to pay a fine for "head-in" parking. The tagging was done by Officer Bradley, the summons was served by Officer Seagraves—and the fine was paid by some other than the recipient of the singular honor, or in short Mr. Bourne himself.

Since the $75 reward was offered for information that would lead to the apprehension of the dog-poisoner operating in the west end, there have been no further cases reported. This human fiend, whoever he is, has recently been the means of killing several valuable dogs; and their owners, highly incensed, got together and made up the $75 reward pool.

Mrs. Hattie Merrill, 5062 Satsuma avenue, has returned from a five weeks' visit with her son in Berkeley. Mrs. Merrill is president of the local Women's Christian Temperance Union. She is 78 years old, yet traveled alone to Berkeley, where she attended daily the Americanization Institute of the San Francisco Young Women's Christian Association.

The American Legion Auxiliary plans a vaudeville show the first week in October, and on August 31 and September 1, "Three Live Ghosts" will be given by the Community Players, at the Central or Eagle Rock school, under the direction of Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer.

LANKERSHIM MAY VOTE TO ANNEX

Petition Asking for Early Election Circulated for Signatures

"To be or not to be?" is the chief question agitating Lankershim these days. Whether 'tis nobler to continue on 'as is" or to take arms against a sea of troubles"—and annex with Los Angeles.

A "Committee of 100" has been formed, with C. C. Bowerman as chairman, to get annexation petitions before the voters, so that an election can be called as quickly as possible. George F. Morrison is secretary of this committee and C. W. Crawshaw treasurer.

The following sub-committees have been appointed: finance, R. L. Forsyth, F. W. Hicks and John Fritz; publicity, H. E. Rathbun, Howard Seeyl and C. W. Crawshaw; and districting, Fred Weddington, Ezra Parker and A. P. Stockton.

Strangely enough, the first name on a petition of 100 citizens that started the committee was L. W. Gregg, who, for years had strenuously opposed annexation.

A complete canvass of the district will be made and an educational campaign conducted, it is understood, so that all will have an intelligent idea of what they are doing when the time comes to go to the polls.

There appear three things Lankershim can do. One is annex, one is stand pat and one is incorporate as a sixth class city. Of these three moves, the preponderant majority of merchants seem in favor of the first.

The 100 merchants and property owners, who recently carried practically a full page ad in their local paper, asking for annexation, look like a "Who's Who" of Lankershim.

The interest of the entire San Fernando valley will be focused on Lankershim in the weeks ahead, as she makes up her mind slowly and irrevocably in this momentous matter.

Will she go the way of Hollywood, Van Nuys, Sawtelle, Eagle Rock and other communities that have gradually been absorbed by the many-armed octopus that sits in Los Angeles and reaches out its tentacles to the uttermost ends of the county? Or will Lankershim stand firm, with Glendale and Burbank, for her own entity?

VALLEY NEWS

PLAN NEW ROUTE ON CANADA BLVD.

G. & M. Railway Preparing To Open Entrance to Verdugo Hills

A project is on foot to open Canada boulevard through from the Woodlands to Verdugo road, and the Glendale & Montrose Railway company is now moving about 1200 feet of track to the center of the proposed street, eliminating a long curve and making a straight stretch of track along Canada boulevard from the point where it leaves Verdugo road on the south to its junction with the road on the north.

Should this opening project materialize, it is stated on competent authority that it will provide another much-needed entrance into the Verdugo Hills section, serving not only the Woodlands but Sparr Heights and Montrose.

The new route would be shorter than the present one, moreover, and would relieve that thoroughfare of much of its existing congestion. Those who have noted the morning and evening travel through Verdugo canyon have come to the conclusion that some step like this is positively essential, if Montrose, La Canada, La Crescenta, Flintridge and the Tujungas are to develop as they are justified in doing.

Van Nuys P. O. Appointee

E. D. Gibson, world war veteran and American Legion adjutant, has received appointment as postmaster of the Van Nuys office, succeeding his father, Daniel M. Gibson, retired, notification to this effect, having been received from Washington through John N. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster general.

The appointment of the younger Mr. Gibson to this post, so long worthily filled by his father, meets with general approval in the community, it is reported. The young man has been in the office since his return from service in July, 1919, and has been extremely active in building up the efficiency of the department.

The retiring postmaster was put in charge at Van Nuys eight years ago, at which time it was a fourth-class office, with but two men, both on half time. Today it is a second-class office and employs, in addition to the postmaster, five assistants.

For approximately a year the money has been appropriated for the work on Cahuenga pass, and still nothing happens, while daily this much-traveled route to and from the San Fernando valley becomes more disreputable.

Worried and somewhat nettled by the delay, the Associated Chambers of Commerce went fully into the matter and now report as follows: The project is at a complete standstill because the street is in the city limits and the county has the money. The principal bone of contention seems to be refusal of property owners to deed a right of way, this being necessary to the plans which contemplate a new road bed.

Realizing that unless some speedy action is taken, the county will turn this money loose for improvement of some other thoroughfare, the Lankershim Chamber of Commerce has decided to take up the fight and wage it actively until the desired result is accomplished—a Cahuenga boulevard road over the pass that is adequate to the tremendous traffic load it is called upon to carry.

Cannot Recall Bonds Until City Suit Settled

this suit has greatly complicated an adjustment of the problem.

Dr. Crocker inquired why application was not made for a court order to permit the redemption of the bonds.

City Controller H. C. Saulsberry called attention to the fact that the suit petitions the court to order the redemption of the bonds and to declare illegal the payment of any interest whatever.

Mayor Spencer Robinson announced that Judge Hartley Shaw, former city attorney, has this case in hand and is still endeavoring to find a solution.

Regret was expressed by the members of the council that they will be unable to attend a mass meeting in the pavilion near the intersection of Hermosita drive and Ramona avenue tomorrow night to discuss "water, telephones, sewers and street improvements." Assistant City Attorney Leslie Tarr was appointed to represent the city administration at the meeting and explain the gas-bond problem.

Postpone Meeting of Chamber Directors

The regular weekly meeting of the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, which was to have been held tonight in the offices of the organization, has been postponed on account of the absence from the city of the executives.

The Pharos, in 283 B. C., built at Alexandria, is the most famous of lighthouses.

BURBANK

TAX RATE SHOWS SLIGHT ADVANCE

$75,374.35 Will Be Raised By Levy of $1.14½ for City Purposes

Burbank's municipal tax rate has been set at $1.14½ per $100 of assessed property valuation, which is only .01½ higher than last year's rate. This rate is made up as follows: $1 for the general fund, 3 cents for the city hall and fire improvement bonds, 7 cents for the park fund and 4½ cents for the sewer bonds.

The tax will yield during the year, for municipal purposes:

General fund	$65,980.70
Principal and interest on city hall and fire improvement bonds	1,900.00
Park purposes	4,618.85
Principal and interest on sewer farm bonds	2,875.00
Total	$75,374.35

In order not to increase the tax rate more than was positively essential, the Board of Trustees cut the park fund rate from 10 cents to 7 cents, the plan being to make up any possible deficit out of the general fund.

Coryell Appointed

William Coryell has been appointed building inspector for the city of Burbank, at the established salary of $175 per month which has been paid for some time to incumbents of the office.

Mr. Coryell will also be plumbing, electrical and sanitary inspector. He will use his own automobile for the handling of the work devolving upon him.

The appointee had for some time been filling the office as temporary building inspector.

The members of the Burbank Choral club picnicked Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lovejoy, bringing their own "eats" and implements therefor. The mess call sounded at 6:30 o'clock. A large number of the members availed themselves of this opportunity to enjoy a good time together, in delightful surroundings.

Make Liquid Sulphur Here

First dirt for the "Plant Pep" Chemical company's plant here was ceremoniously turned the morning of August 23, with William H. Reeves, Glendale city manager, wielding the spade.

The guiding spirit behind Plant Pep is Gustav Rasmus, who has worked for years to perfect this fertilizer, which, he explains, is a variety of liquid sulphur.

Friends of the inventor claim that in this product he has found the anathema of the boll-weevil, that destructive insect the United States government has spent millions of dollars in an attempt to destroy.

The factory will have an initial capacity of 8000 gallons of Plant Pep a day, it is announced. This capacity can be doubled by working a night shift.

The plant occupies six acres bounded by Alameda avenue, the Southern Pacific tracks and Flower street. The factory will be of stucco, 40x140 feet, and the S. P. will run in a spur sufficient to spot three cars.

SUNLAND

LEWIS-JOHNSON NUPTIALS IN L.A.

Couple Slip Away Week Ago And Wed; Honeymoon On Catalina Island

Miss Marjorie Lewis of Sunland and J. B. Johnson, Jr., of Tujunga, slipped away from home and were quietly married in Los Angeles on Saturday, August 18, 1923. They planned to spend a short honeymoon at Catalina Island, after which they will make their home on Hughes street, Tujunga. Mr. Johnson is in business with his father and is well known in the valley.

Improvement of the Roscoe road from Sunland was the main topic of discussion at the meeting of the Sunland Chamber of Commerce. Other road improvement plans were also discussed.

A committee consisting of B. F. Mears, A. Adams, Jr., and the Rev. W. E. Smith was appointed to arouse an interest in the work of the Chamber of Commerce by personally interviewing residents of the community.

At the next meeting next Tuesday, September 4, officers for the coming year will be elected and plans for the coming year's work will be drawn. The chamber hopes to have Mr. Bayer, organization manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, present to address the meeting on that date.

C. of C. to Elect

The Sunland Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular meeting tonight. Officers will be elected to serve the coming year, and important community affairs will be discussed. Road improvement work will be planned for presentation to the supervisors.

The chamber has undertaken an active campaign to awaken the lagging interest of residents in the organization's work. A committee has been canvassing the community in the persons of B. F. Mears, W. E. Smith and A. Adams, Jr.

The directors drafted a letter to be mailed to all residents of Sunland, requesting their attendance at this meeting. They have also asked Mr. Bayer, organization manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, to be present and address the meeting.

Petitions for the formation of a fire district were scheduled to be heard by the county supervisors in the Hall of Records, Los Angeles, today, and no doubt a report will be made by the committee on this important project.

A steam turbine generator that will supply energy equal to muscle work of 5,400,000 men in three eight-hour shifts is being manufactured by the General Electric Company.
